RALPH McGILL

Old Story— A Dictator Flees

The machines clicked out the story — the dictator Rojas had fled Colombia in a military plane.

About four years ago I filed a column from Bogota, Colombia, titled "A Ford Worker for President."

It was a sort of profile on President Gustavo Rojas Pinilla, the Colombian general who had just become military president of his country. It developed out of two interviews with him. Gen. Rojas had come up in a sort of Horatio Alger manner. In 1926, he had come to America, lured by its schools and the $5 per day wage with which Henry Ford had shaken the industrial world. He worked and went to school in Detroit. Later he moved on to New York and had a job in a shoe manufacturing plant and attended a YMCA school.

He returned to Colombia and, by marrying well and working hard in the army, had risen to be a general. When the country was ravaged and divided in bloody civil war by the dictator Gomez, the army picked its best-known and most-trusted general to head up a military government to replace the ousted tyrant Gomez.

People's Trust

The people did love and trust him—especially the poor.

He could talk to them of how he had stood behind a work bench for eight hours per day. He had then a sort of humility and sense of good will which the people could feel.

In the interviews he promised restoration of press freedom and of individual liberty. He promised a lifting of censorship and kept that promise. The revolutionists, who had fled from Gomez and fought back as guerrillas, came in from the hills and gave up their weapons.

Gen. Rojas spoke humbly and sincerely. He wanted Colombia, booming with hope and business, to fulfill the promises of her history . . . to attain her destiny.

For a time he seemed to move in that direction.

But the promised return to representative government was delayed. The country, he said, was not quite ready.

The newspapers did begin to be free. But this, too, did not last.

Then we saw Lord Acton's famous axiom demonstrated.

"All power corrupts . . . absolute power corrupts absolutely."

It was so with him, as it was with Stalin, Hitler, Mussolini, Peron, and as it is with Franco, Batista and others of their caliber. It was so with Huey Long, with Joe McCarthy, and with others who were political tyrants. "Power corrupts . . . absolute power corrupts absolutely."

Soon men and their families were being murdered and their land taken by the government. It ended up in Rojas' hands—or in those of his pets. There was graft of great proportions. Rojas became rich. His family developed insatiable appetites for social power and display.

Power Mad

He demonstrated anew that few men who assume power ever are willing to give it up.

He became so rapacious that the Roman Catholic Church, which is the church of 90 per cent of the Colombians, denounced him.

The end was nearing.

Friday it came.

We may be sure that Rojas has sent money out of the country. He will live well.

Behind him, in the steely dawn, as word came that the bloody butcher had fled, students ran through the streets crying "Liberty! Liberty!" Sleepy citizens ran out on balconies to hear the word and to join in the cry.

All over Bogota . . . and in Cali, in Medellin, in Manizales, and in all the cities and villages hidden in the great folds of the mountains there was rejoicing that tyranny had fled. . . .

Men and women want liberty . . . it is a pity so few serve her with faith. The people of Colombia are a great people. They deserve liberty. And we pray this time they may have it.

House Panel Slices Ike's Farm Fund

Economy Ax Cuts Deep in Soil Bank

WASHINGTON, May 10 (UP)—The House Appropriations Committee, denouncing the administration's farm program as a "failure," today slashed a whopping $272,556,860 from President Eisenhower's farm budget requests.

The action was a new slap at the President, who plans two nationwide radio - television addresses in the next two weeks in an effort to rally public opinion against what he considers dangerous cuts in his new $71,800,000,000 record peacetime budget.

The Democratic-controlled committee, which now has trimmed more than $1,400,000,000 from the budget, also called for development of a new farm program aimed at giving farmers a "fair return" in the market place rather than depending on federal handouts.

"SERIOUSLY ILL"

It said in an accompanying report that the farm economy was "seriously ill." It said net farm income was down 17.5 per cent since 1952 and the average farmer's return skidded from 82.5 cents an hour in 1952 to 70 cents last year.

The committee's action was all the more surprising because farm spending usually is immune from congressional economy efforts. In each of the past four years Congress has wound up voting more farm funds than the President requested.

The House, which has sustained all of the committee's earlier economy cuts, will take up the measure next Tuesday.

HIT SOIL BANK

Eisenhower asked last January for $3,965,446,617 in agricultural funds for the new fiscal year 1958 which starts July 1. The committee recommended only $3,692,889,757, concentrating its economy ax on the administration-sponsored soil bank.

Suez Now Open, U.S. Tells Ships

WASHINGTON, May 10 (AP)—The State Department said it is advising American ships that physical hazards no longer prevent passage through the Suez Canal.

A department spokesman stressed, however, shipping companies have been told they "must pay under protest" tolls, charged by the Egyptian government for transit of the seized waterway.

POLE PLANT BURNS—NORTH YARMOUTH, Me., May 10—Freshly creosoted utility poles at the Koppers Co., Inc., treatment plant here throw up vast smoke cloud. The blaze spread to a nearby forest, jumped the Royal River and headed for Freeport. Nearly half the poles were destroyed and firemen and special foam equipment were summoned from South Portland—15 miles away—in an attempt to halt the fire. GOP in Dixie To Stay, Ike Tells Party Rally

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 10 (AP)—President Eisenhower, speaking by long-distance telephone, told Republican leaders today the Democrats have lost control of the "Solid South" and the GOP is in Dixie to stay.

Citing "impressive increases" in GOP strength in the South in the last 20 years, Eisenhower called for a political offensive to recapture control of Congress next year.

His remarks were brought through an amplifier to party leaders from 12 Southern and border states attending a regional conference whose theme is "Concentrate on '58." The meeting is the fourth in a nationwide series.

Eisenhower said the party's weakness in the South has been that Republicans failed to nominate candidates in many races. Even in 1956, he pointed out, there were no GOP candidates in 65 of the 114 congressional districts in Southern and border states.

"If we work long enough and hard enough, there can be no such thing as a hopeless state or a hopeless district," the President said. "We ought to have a candidate in every one."

The President also spoke out again in defense of the $71,800,000,000 federal budget which he said was "not recklessly or carelessly thrown together."

He added the price of peace comes high, and the price of maintaining the peace comes high—that the cost "is inconsequential when compared with the price of war."

Turning again to the political scene, Eisenhower said in every presidential election since 1940, the Republicans have increased their percentage of the South's total vote.

"There is no longer a 'Solid

President Goes On TV Tuesday For His Budget

WASHINGTON, May 10 (AP)—The White House today fixed next Tuesday evening as the time for President Eisenhower's nationwide radio-TV speech in support of his $71,800,000,000 spending budget.

Press secretary James C. Hagerty said Eisenhower will speak from his White House office for 30 minutes, starting at 9 p.m. EDT.

The address will be carried "live" at that time by NBC-TV and radio, Mutual Radio, ABC radio, and CBS radio.

Hagerty also announced this schedule of delayed broadcasts later Tuesday night:

Bars Here Reminded Of Curfew

Atlanta detectives Friday night "reacquainted" all bar owners with the city ordinance that calls for bars to quit selling liquor at 11:45 p.m.

Detectives visited every bar and left a copy of the city ordinance that regulates the sale of mixed drinks. Nearly every bar in the city has been staying open until 2 a.m. for the past two or three years, a detective said.

Behind the move apparently is the charge of Fulton Superior Court Judge George P. Whitman Sr. to the May-June grand jury to look into the legal status of Atlanta's $1,000 pouring licenses while continuing a probe into the lottery racket.

Judge Whitman said that the sale of mixed drinks under "pouring licenses" are a "miserable sham and subterfuge to circumvent the law."

He pointed out repeatedly to the grand jury that the laws provide only for the sale of liquor "in the original and unbroken package" and "do not permit the sale of spirituous intoxicating liquors by the drink."

A city detective said night clubs and eating places, under the existing city ordinance, are permitted to stay open to serve food or provide entertainment, but that their bars must close.

Atlanta Parolee Is Grabbed By Gator, Welcomes Police

NEW ORLEANS, May 10 (AP)—An admitted Georgia parole violator, apparently caught by a Louisiana alligator, said today he "was never so glad to see police."

Lebur C. Hawkins, 47, came to his downfall in a lily pad pond a few miles west of the Mississippi River bridge near here.

State troopers Joe Williams and Clinton Lauman said they were about to arrest two men found sleeping in a parked car near the pond when they heard screaming:

"Help! A gator got me! Don't leave me! Help, police!."

They said they rushed to find Hawkins waist deep in the pond, trying to shake loose something. They managed to pull him out.

One of his shoes had long creases, apparently teeth marks, running from instep to toe, but he was uninjured.

"Every time I drink," the shaken Hawkins told troopers, "I get the urge to roam around on the green grass. I guess I mistook the lily pads for green pasture and went into the water."

Hawkins said he had been hitchhiking. The two oil field workers in the car told officers they picked him up.

The oil workers, Jack C. Reagan, 35, Gulf Camp, Tex., and Ralph Morgan, 32, Monahans, Tex., were held pending investigation. Troopers said they could not prove ownership of the car.

Hawkins was held for investigation of being a parole violator, after he told officers he was wanted in Atlanta, Ga.

Rainy Weekend In 70s Forecast

Cloudy skies and scattered showers, with continued warm weather, are forecast for Atlanta Saturday. Skies are expected to be partly cloudy Saturday night and Sunday, with more showers predicted for Sunday afternoon. The weatherman foresees little chance of clearing over the weekend.

Saturday's temperatures are expected to range from 66 to 75, with Sunday's predicted at 64 and 78. Thursday's range in Atlanta was 61 to 76.

Those Footsore Blues Win Oscar for Army

WASHINGTON, May 10 (UP)—The Army was cited today for "distinguishing the human foot."

The occasion marked the opening of Foot Health Week.

Beck Grabbed Slice Of a Widow's Benefit Fund, Probe Is Told

Banker Tells Of Trustee Relationship

WASHINGTON, May 10 (AP)—Senate rackets probers produced evidence today that Teamsters President Dave Beck reaped profit from a benefit fund set up for the widow of his best friend.

Donol Hedlund, a Seattle mortgage banker, testified that he and Beck shared an $11,585 profit on mortgage sales to a fund set up by various unions for Mrs. Terry Leheney, widow of Ray Leheney, a labor leader whom Hedlund described as Beck's "best and closest friend."

Beck was a trustee of the widow's fund, and Robert F. Kennedy, counsel for the Senate Committee, told newsmen there was a violation of the law regulating trusteeships in Beck's receiving a profit on the mortgage sales to the fund.

DOUBLE ETHICS

Hedlund defended the profit as being "done from the heart rather than the head," although earlier had said he didn't think it was handled in an ethical manner.

Introduced into evidence was a Nov. 16, 1956, letter to Mrs. Leheney in which Beck assured her she would be getting "a very fine return on your investment with the maximum of safety."

The committee also developed testimony that Beck quietly collected thousands of dollars in fees on money invested in mortgages by his union, the biggest in the country.

Beck, who didn't attend today's hearing, issued a statement defending his method of handling union funds.

TELLS OF RATE RISE

When he took over as international president, Beck said, the net yield on the union's investments was 2½ per cent as of Dec. 31, 1952. As of last March 31, he continued, the yield was 4.06 per cent.

Beck put the total investment at $32,474,631. He said $28,582,646 of this is mortages or bonds.

"The statistics cited should indicate that our investment program has been and is among the

SOUTHERNERS DENOUNCE CIVIL RIGHTS BILL
Sens. Johnston (D-SC), Left, Ervin (D-NC) Issue Report

Ervin, Johnston Label Rights Bill 'Despotic'

WASHINGTON, May 10 (AP)—A minority report by Sens. Ervin (D-NC) and Johnston (D-SC) today denounced the administration's civil rights bill as "indefensible" and as conferring "autocratic and despotic" powers on the attorney general.

The report was filed by the two Southern senators as members of a Senate judiciary subcommittee which approved the measure last March 19 by a 4-2 vote. The full committee has yet to act. A similar bill is before the House Rules Committee.

Ervin and Johnston, terming the bill "as drastic and indefensible" a proposal as ever was laid before an American legislative body, aimed their attack mainly at provisions empowering the federal government to seek injunctions against violations of voting or other civil rights.

RELY ON INJUNCTION

They and other Southern opponents claim a federal judge under those provisions could issue an injunction and jail a person for contempt without a jury trial. Proponents argue Southern juries have shown an unwillingness to convict in civil rights cases, hence reliance on the injunctive process is necessary.

Ervin and Johnston said the bill is "deliberately designed" to rob citizens of basic constitutional right. They added it would give the attorney general "a legal club by which he can browbeat state and local officials into submission to his will."

They argued further the measure is based on the "strange thesis that the best way to promote civil rights of some Americans is to rob other Americans of civil rights equally as precious and to reduce the supposedly Sovereign states to meaningless zeros on the nation's map."

SCENT RUSSIAN FLAVOR

They said the bill is "deliberately designed to confer upon the attorney general autocratic and despotic powers which may befit the office of commissar of justice in a totalitarian country, but which are incompatible with the office of chief law officer of a republic having a government of laws rather than a government of men."

Ervin was told at a news conference that, at House hearings on the bill, a question had been raised as to whether his position with respect to jury trials was consistent with rulings he had made while a justice of the North Carolina Supreme Court.

The senator replied that North Carolina law permits punishment for contempt without a jury trial

Judge Steps In To Protect Witnesses in Ingram Case

By GENE BRITTON

Because prospective witnesses in the Horace Ingram lottery case might be "intimidated and harassed," a federal judge Friday suspended the rule that requires witnesses be subpoenaed 20 days prior to their appearance before the federal grand jury

U.S. District Judge Frank Hooper ordered the traditional "20-day rule" suspended "due to the risk of the proposed witnesses being harassed and intimidated by

Sol. Kelley to augment staff for lottery and whisky investigations. Story on Page 17.

The rule normally requires the U.S. district attorney to issue subpoenas at least 20 days before the witnesses are to report. The district attorney's office said it requested the rule be suspended to avoid any possible attempts to "influence" witnesses whose identities are being kept secret.

Judge Hooper ordered the U.S. marshal "to forthwith serve the subpoenas" on the witnesses for the grand jury investigation of May 16 and May 17.

The order pointed out that it "probably would have been harmful" to have issued subpoenas to witnesses earlier.

Witnesses to appear were not agreed upon by intelligence agents of the Internal Revenue Service and the district attorney until Wednesday afternoon.

It's Up to U.S. and Russia To Find A Way to Peace, Khrushchev Says

By TURNER CATLEDGE
(Copyright 1957 by The New York Times Co.)

MOSCOW, May 10 — Nikita S. Khrushchev maintains that the surest way to avoid an all-out war between the communist and non-communist countries is for the United States and the Soviet Union to find some way jointly to ease the tensions which beset this troubled world.

Khrushchev is first secretary of the central committee of the Communist Party of the U.S.S.R. and as such is the chief factor in the Soviet government and reigning prince of international communism.

Khrushchev's views were stated in a personal interview with this writer at Communist Party headquarters this afternoon.

His views were prompted by a question as to whether he favored or would seek another meeting of the heads of state of the United States, the U.S.S.R., Great Britain and France. He decidedly favored such a meeting, he said. But he insisted repeatedly that responsibility for easing tensions rested most heavily on the United States and the U.S.S.R., "first and foremost on the United States."

Khrushchev answered most of the questions with an apparent free and easy manner.

He made observations on many facets of international politics and Soviet domestic problems. Among them were:

Any Big Four conference should be carefully prepared in advance.

Any settlement in Europe might entail setting up a continuing body dominated by the United States and the Soviet Union to review future problems. Such a body obviously would mean the dissolution of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The problem of Germany should be left to Bonn and Berlin.

The United Nations is a useful agent for peace but not important at present because of the dominant role of the United States.

"The indisputable fact" that the United States and her allies contemplate aggressive war on the Soviet Union and her Communist pals.

Selfish people in the United States are "carrying on a policy of balancing on the brink of war."

The people of the United States were "cleverly tricked in the election campaign" to follow the warmongers.

Colombia Topples Dictator Rojas; 30 Celebrators Die in Stampede

BOGOTA, Colombia, May 10 (AP)—The four-year dictatorship of Gen. Gustavo Rojas Pinilla collapsed today on the rocks of his greed for new power.

New bloodshed accompanied his downfall. Soldiers advancing behind tanks and wielding rifle butts stampeded a crowd of joyous demonstrators before the Capitol. Thirty died in the panic.

The newspaper Intermedio said police fired on a crowd celebrating Rojas' fall at the city of Medellin, killing nine persons. Police insisted a curfew there still was in effect.

Rojas turned his presidential powers over to a five-man military junta headed by Maj. Gen. Gabriel Paris.

There were reports Rojas had gone to Caracas, Venezuela, but an official radio announcement said he still was in the presidential palace.

Cristanto Cardinal Luque, whose opposition helped Oust Rojas, appealed to the people over a nationwide radio hookup to support the junta in the name of patriotism.

The church warned that Communists were interested in creating new disturbances.

Paris, as president of the junta, promised on his honor as an officer that popular elections will be held next year.

Rojas' surrender capped a week of demonstrations and violence in which more than 100 persons lost their lives.

He went down under pressure from opposition of the Roman Catholic Church, the business community, the political parties of the country—and the people as a whole.

He wanted another term starting next year, but the constitution, forbidding a president to succeed himself, stood in his way. To get around that, he handpicked a constituent Assembly which last Wednesday suspended the constitution's provisions for a popular election and handed Rojas a new term extending until 1962.

That crystallized the opposition.

Soviets Vote To Ask Big 3 A-Tests Ban

U.S. Leaders Dismiss Appeal; London Labels It Propaganda

MOSCOW, May 10 (AP)—Both houses of the Soviet Parliament voted unanimously today to ask the American Congress and the British Parliament to join it in an immediate ban of nuclear test explosions. A joint committee would be set up to exchange views on the issue.

(In London, a Foreign Office spokesman said the proposal was the "latest move" in a Soviet campaign designed to "mislead public opinion on the matter of nuclear test.")

The vote by the 1,347 members of the Supreme Soviet followed criticism of Western nuclear proposals by Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko and a denunciation of American "aggressive policies" by five other speakers in the great hall of the Kremlin.

The two houses—the Council of the Union and the Council of Nationalities—also unanimously approved party Secretary Nikita S. Khrushchev's sweeping industrial reorganization program after Khrushchev warned that workers may find their pay docked if they fail to carry out their jobs.

Emphasis at the final session of the Parliament today, however, was on nuclear policy.

A resolution presented to both houses called for an appeal to Congress and the British Parliament for immediate cessation of atomic and hydrogen test explosions.

JOINT COMMITTEE

Under the resolution, a joint committee of the three legislative bodies would exchange opinions on the methods of outlawing such blasts.

Approval was by a unanimous show of hands in both houses which voted on the proposal as separate units.

The Parliament voted after Gromyko charged that the Western powers "consistently oppose and undermine efforts to reach agreement" on disarmament.

During his 20-minute address, the first he has made to Parliament since becoming foreign minister last February, Gromyko reiterated Russia's intention to continue to produce and test nuclear weapons as long as there is no international agreement banning them.

BERMUDA REACTION

He offered the first official Russian reaction to the proposal of President Eisenhower and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan at their Bermuda conference last March to register all test explosions in advance on grounds they can be carried out undetected.

"This contradicts the facts," Gromyko said. "The explosion has not yet occurred which remained undetected."

He said advance registration is insufficient and fails to solve the basic problem of controlling such explosions.

Russia has touched off several test blasts in recent months. Britain has a hydrogen bomb test scheduled for later this spring at Christmas Island in the Pacific.

Gromyko said Russia must continue to make nuclear weapons because of America's "brink of war" policies and the competition for "stronger, deadlier" super weapons.

U.S. Invites 47 Nations To A-Tests

WASHINGTON, May 10 (UP—The United States, in a bold move to reassure nervous nations about this country's nuclear safety precautions, today invited 47 countries to send observers to this month's Nevada atomic tests.

The Atomic Energy Commission which is in charge of the tests, said one of the invitations went to Japan which has sought unsuccessfully to get the United States to call off the Nevada and all future nuclear tests.

Other invitations went to countries in Europe, Asia, South and Central America and the Middle East.

RUSSIA EXCLUDED

Excluded were Russia, which never announces in advance when it will hold atomic tests, and India, a sharp critic of U.S. nuclear testing policy. Neighboring Pakistan, which has sharp differences with India, was one of the invited nations.

The AEC said the purpose in sending the invitations was to familiarize the 47 nations "with U.S. nuclear weapons testing policies and operations, especially safety procedures."

It will be the first time since the 1946 Bikini tests in the Pacific—in which the lethal punch of the atom was unleashed against a fleet of naval vessels—that a U.S. nuclear test has been thrown so wide open.

Russia, which did not yet have the A-bomb at the time, was represented at the awesome 1946 1946 demonstration and one Soviet official professed to believe that the bomb was of little consequence. But Russia thereafter bent every effort to make its own bomb.

TESTS "ESSENTIAL"

In disclosing the invitation list, the AEC emphasized that all of the tests in the forthcoming Nevada series will be "low-yield fission devices essential to the defense of the free world."

In addition to official observers, each of the 47 nations was invited to send newsmen to send dispatches back home on "at least one" of the nine test shots which will be open to U.S. reporters.

These tests are scheduled for May 16, June 25-27, July 9-15-25, Aug. 8-9 and Sept. 1.

In addition to the invited observers, Canada will send a small number of representatives "to take part in the military defense phases of the test series." British and Canadian officials have witnessed previous U.S. tests both in Nevada and in the Pacific where the United States tests its hydrogen bombs.

EMPTY SEAT BY FIRE IS ALL THAT'S LEFT OF PLYMOUTH, MASS., HOME

Mrs. Floyd Hauthaway's Residence Was in Path of Flames Spurred By High Winds

Fires Rage For 5th Day In Northeast

By the Associated Press

Rain brought a measure of relief to Maine, New York and Vermonth. But elsewhere there was no sign of a break in a dry spell that has turned forests tinder-dry.

Historic Plymouth, Mass., where the Pilgrims landed in 1620, was saved from destruction for the second time in two days. Fanned by 35 m.p.h. winds, the flames crackled to within a few hundred yards of Jordan Hospital, the only one in Plymouth.

3,000 FIREFIGHTERS

Some 3,000 firefighters, some of them volunteers from among prisoners in the Plymouth County Jail and others from communities as far away as 70 miles, finally got the fire under control.

The hospital's 50 patients were alerted for evacuation but it was not necessary. However, 17 patients were evacuated from a nursing home across the street.

In Middleboro, Mass., patients were evacuated from a nursing home in the path of a woods fire. And in Farmingdale, N.J., 200 child patients, some only two-years-old were evacuated from a tuberculosis sanitraium. They were temprarily housed in a school and a firehouse.

15 NEARLY TRAPPED

Near Warwick, R. I., 15 high school boys battling a woods fire narrowly escaped being trapped by a sudden shift of the wind. They scrambled to safety. The blaze was extinguished after it came within 300 yards of "The Forge," historic birthplace of the Revolutionary War hero, Gen. Nathanael Greene.

The governor further banned fishing in ponds, lakes and streams.

Harriman said that up until Wednesday the state had been hit this year by 989 fires that burned over more than 13,000 acres.

In Portland, Me., the Sebago Yacht Club asked Gov. Edmund Muskie to hire professional rainmakers to cope with the Pine Tree State's drought conditions.

5,000 ACRES BLACKENED

A fire near West Kennebunk destroyed more than a dozen homes and blackened nearly 5,000 acres.

Connecticut had 22 separate forest fires yesterday. State police and forest rangers took to hellcopters to direct operations.

The fires also plagued Canada, with 166 reported in Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Quebec, Ontario, Albert and British Columbia. One fire that burned over 8,000 acres near Skead, north of Sudbury, Ont., destroyed 20 homes.

SAUD IN BAGHDAD

2 Arab Kings May Confer With Hussein

BAGHDAD, Iraq, May 10 (UP)—King Saud of Saudi Arabia arrives here tomorrow for a four-day state visit with King Feisal that may pave the way for a fundamental change in Arab world politics.

There were persistent reports that Jordan's King Hussein might join his fellow Arab monarchs here next week for talks on closer ties with the West.

The reports were not denied by either Jordan or Saudi Arabia. An Iraqi spokesman said today that if such a conference of the three Arab world kings took place "it should be in Baghdad."

The three monarchs, all pro-Western, would be expected to discuss Syrian and Egyptian intrigues against their thrones and to discuss strategy against Communist infiltration in the Middle East.

Atom Pool for Peace Uses Can Lead To Weapons Control, Dulles Says

WASHINGTON, May 10 (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles said today the proposed international agency for peaceful uses of atomic energy can be a stepping stone toward control of nuclear weapons.

Urging speedy Senate action to make this country a member of the new 80-nation International Atomic Energy Agency, Dulles said: "In the agency, for the first time in history, the overwhelming majority of the nations have agreed on a far-reaching system of controls and safeguards."

"The Agency can help in moving toward control of nuclear weapons," he said.

Dulles testified at the opening of Senate Foreign Relations Committee hearings on the membership treaty submitted by President Eisenhower on March 22.

Eisenhower said the agency, an outgrowth of his speech to the United Nations in December, 1953, is the answer to the desire of many nations for a body "in which all may safely pool their knowledge and skill for the advancement of all."

A number of senators in both parties have expressed misgivings about the agency. Ratification of the charter requires a two-thirds vote of the Senate.

Dulles, under questioning by Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala), said failure of this country to join would have "disastrous effects on the prestige and influence of the United States in the world." Without U.S. support he said he felt "the whole effort would collapse."

The secretary testified the charter agreement worked out by 80 nations last October contains "an effective system of safeguards to insure the development of atomic energy with security." He said such an agency offers the best hope yet for cooperation with Russia to "reduce international tension."

Russia already has ratified the treaty.

Dulles underwent critical questioning by two Republican committee members, Sen. Knowland of California, the GOP Senate leader, and Hickenlooper of Iowa. Both Knowland and Hickenlooper got a special White House briefing on the treaty last Friday but they came away saying they believed it may be necessary to "attach some reservations or interpretations" to the document.

At today's hearing Knowland raised the point that the United States proposes to contribute 5,000 kilograms of fissionable materials to the agency against a Russian contribution of 50 and a British contribution of 20 kilograms. A kilogram is a little over two pounds.

Hickenlooper said the two million dollars it would cost this country to support the agency in its first year of operation was small in comparison with the 80 million dollars in fissionable materials it would contribute.

Dulles emphasized the treaty does not contemplate a "give-away" agency. He said countries receiving atomic fuel would pay the agency for what they received and the United States would be reimbursed.

Further, Dulles said the fuel "will not be of a kind usable for nuclear weapons."

Street Sweepers Claim Brushoff— And Clear Path for Police Cleanup

NEW YORK, May 10 (AP)—Police had a quick answer for the Sanitation Department's complaint that not enough cars were being ticketed.

Sanitation officials complained that their trucks had to sweep around illegally parked cars unless they had been ticketed, in which case they could be towed away.

To put pressure on the police, the department sent out sleuths and found 200 illegally parked cars without tickets.

Rights Bill Indefensible, Despotic, Say 2 Senators for violations of temporary restraining orders, with punishment limited to 30 days in jail or a $50 fine.

He said that while he was on the state court he joined in upholding the lower courts in four such cases involving punishment for contempt without a jury trial. He said he hadn't been happy about it, but that he hadn't written the state law and felt that his duty as a judge was to apply the law and not to make it.

Ervin and Johnston were asked whether they favor a "right-to-work" amendment, proposed by Sen. McClellan (D-Ark), forbidding labor agreements that require employes to be union members. Eighteen states now have right-to-work laws.

Without committing himself definitely, Johnston said he would "put most anything in the bill to kill it." Some northern senators have said the McClellan amendment, if approved in committee, would kill the civil rights bill.

Ervin said he expects to support the McClellan amendment. But he added the bill is so broad that under its present terms the attorney general could bring suit to strike down any state laws and permit union or closed shop agreements.

Referring to the measure as containing "loaded legal dice," Ervin said some have tried to make it appear to be concerned only with voting rights, but he contended "it is as broad as the power of the states to legislate."

Dictatorship Of Rojas Ends In Colombia

cials of the armed forces were in session Thursday night and into the early hours of Friday. At 3:30 a.m. the news Rojas was out began to spread by telephone.

An hour and a half later automobiles filled with shouting men and women, many in pajamas and dressing gowns, converged on the center of Bogota.

"Liberty!" was the predominant cry. There were demands also that a civilian be named president.

Tragedy marred the celebration at 8:30 a.m. Thousands jammed Plaza Bolivar in front of the Capitol.

Suddenly an officer turned to his soldiers and ordered them to clear the area. Tanks rumbled into action.

The soldiers, using their rifle butts as clubs but withholding fire, advanced behind the tanks.

Panic spread among the crowd. When the area was cleared at least 30 bodies were sprawled on the ground. Apparently they were crushed to death in the wild stampede to avoid the advancing soldiers.

It was not clear what prompted the officer to give the signal to clear the area.

Israel Prods U.N. To Get Suez Accord

JERUSALEM, Israeli Sector, May 10 (AP)—Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion asked Dag Hammarskjold today to seek from Egypt an end to that country's state of belligerency against Israel.

Ben-Gurion also raised with the United Nations secretary general the question of Egypt's ban on Israeli shipping in the Suez Canal.

Hammarskjold's reaction was not divulged. He emerged from the 3½-hour talk smiling broadly. His only words to waiting newsmen were: "Do I look unhappy?"

FRANK EXCHANGE

A communique said only that Ben-Gurion also raised with the had "a full and frank exchange of views" on Middle East problems. The communique said the two reaffirmed their determination to work for peace in the Middle East.

Today's conference followed one lasting 4½ hours yesterday. Hammarskjold leaves for New York tomorrow.

If any specific agreements were reached, there was no indication of them from official quarters. The communique said Ben-Gurion and Hammarskjold "welcomed the opportunity afforded by these meetings to clarify problems relating to the Middle East of common concern to Israel and the United Nations."

CLEAR UP VIEWS

An Israeli Foreign Ministry spokesman said Ben-Gurion repeated Israel's request that Hammarskjold obtain an answer from President Nasser on Egypt's continued belligerency. The question of Egyptian refusal to allow Israeli shipping through the Suez Canal and "Israel's relations" with her Arab neighbors were al-also discussed.

Asked about any agreements reached, the spokesman replied: "That was not the objective of the meeting."

On the surface, it appeared the principal results of the two days of talks were clarification of views on both sides and more cordial relations between Israel and the United Nations.

The Israeli spokesman said the main purpose of the meetings was to present to Hammarskjold Israel's views and to hear his reactions. In that, he said, the talks were "very satisfactory."

10 on Raft Saved After Plane Falls

HONOLULU, May 10 (AP) — Ten Navy men were pulled from a pitching life raft in the flare-lit Pacific by a submarine early today after their patrol bomber was forced down.

The submarine Bream made the rescue. It radioed tersely that all 10 men on the plane were "uninjured and in good condition."

Rescue officials praised the pilot, Lt. J. F. Ahearn, Framingham, Mass., for "a spectacular job" of bringing the bomber down with its starboard engine blazing.

The plane was ditched about 170 miles southwest of Honolulu.

'SOLDIERED' IN CUBAN HILLS

2 U.S. Boys Describe 3 Months With Rebels

GUANTANAMO, Cuba, May 10 (AP)—Two American teen-agers who spent nearly three months with the rebels in Cuba's Mistress Mountains said today they helped teach insurgent leader Fidel Castro to speak English.

Victor J. Buehlman, 17, and Michael L. Garvey, 15, returned yesterday to their homes on the U.S. Naval base here. A third runaway, Charles E. Ryan, 20, chose to stay in the hills despite his mother's grief.

Garvey chuckled today when he was asked whether they saw much of Castro.

"We were with him all the time," the gangling, 6-foot boy said. "He spoke English a little bit when we got there (about Feb. 17) but it improved a lot during the time we spent with him."

Garvey said the three Americans "really soldiered" in the mountains, living in the woods and training under field conditions. They saw no combat.

Castro, who had been a political refugee, slipped into this country by boat in November and fled at once into the Mistress Mountains with 60-odd supporters. He has remained there since, despite attempts by government troops to dislodge him.

There were indications that the Americans seldom strayed far from civilization. They both brought back an extensive collection of press clippings reporting their exploits.

A picture the rebels posed for "in the field" some time ago had a house in the background. The two teenagers said it was taken "in a town," but would not say which one or how long they spent there.

Garvey returned just in time. His family—his father is a naval officer—is scheduled to leave in two weeks for Jacksonville, Fla.

Mideast Aid $120 Million, Says Richards

WASHINGTON, May 10 (AP)—The United States has granted about 120 million dollars in emergency military and economic aid to Middle East countries to help safeguard them against communism.

Special Ambassador James P. Richards disclosed this today at a news conference report on his recent visit to 15 Mideast countries as White House envoy.

He said the money came from an emergency 200-million-dollar fund Congress provided in March in response to President Eisenhower's plea for broad authority to use U. S. dollars and military power to block Russian threats to the region.

Richards, a South Carolina Democrat and former Congress member, said nearly half of the money he allocated was for "guns, tanks and things of that kind."

Crash Here Pins Driver InWreckage

15 Are Injured On Slick Streets

By KEELER McCARTNEY

Fifteen persons were injured in a rash of automobile crashes on rain-slicked streets here Friday, including one motorist trapper in his car nearly an hour.

Clarence D. Harrington, 50, of 2600 Cascade Rd., SW, was injured critically when pinned inside his auto in front of 570 Peyton Rd., SW, police said.

CAR UPSET

Partolmen A. J. Stephens and J. Q. Walker said the car evidently skidded from the road and overturned against a tree. Harrington, an employe of the Southern Natural Gas Co., was pinned inside the demolished car, police said.

He was amitted to Grady Hospital suffering with internal and other injuries. His condition was reported critical.

The first call was turned in to the central fire station at 10:51 p.m. and a wagon and a truck from Station 25, 2349 Sewell Road, SW, arrived in minutes.

UNWRAP STEEL

Nine firemen under Capt. I. F. Styron began the delicate task of unwrapping twisted steel.

"He was trapped in around the steering shaft," said Styron. "We had to be mighty careful in case he had any broken ribs. A false move might have caused a rib to puncture his lungs."

The firemen were prevented from using a cutting torch by the nearness of clothes and upholstery.

Three persons were hurt in a head-on crash in front of 2520 Peachtree Rd., police said. They were Newton J. Cash, 28, of 928 Rose Cir., SW, head and chest injuries; Marion L. Phillips, 18, of 5000 Powers Ferry Rd., bruises and possible fracture of the right arm; L. W. Gast Jr., 20 of 78 Fifth St., NW, facial lacerations.

SEEK DRIVER

Patrolman G. J. Puckett said he was unable to locate the driver of one machine which was reported to have veered over to the wrong side of the street and caused the crash.

Three were hurt, none seriously, in an unusual wreck on Lakewood Avenue, near, near Sylvan Road, SW. Patrolmen C. L. Queen and W. R. Stewart said Mrs. Bernice Haralson of Oana Street, SW, told them she was driving west on Lakewood and had stopped for a traffic light at Sylvan Road.

CAR CLIMBS WIRE

As the light changed, Mrs. Haralson started off. Officers said she told them she could recall nothing else. They said the car ran up a guy wire of a utility pole, touched the pole and then fell, overturning.

Mrs. Haralson and her two children, Susan Elaine, three, and Robert Lee Jr., five were treated at Grady hospital for cuts and bruises.

Three were injured when an auto struck a utility pole on Peachtree Battle avenue at Woodward way, NW, police said. They were listed as Wendell Tinsley Jackson, 17, of 655 Woodward Way, NW, chest and head injuries; John Watt, 15, of 671 Woodward Way, NW, and Patsey Jackson, 11, of 655 Woodward Way, NW, cuts and bruises.

Three others were hurt in a crash involving two autos and a truch at Northside drive and Jones avenue, NW, police reported. They were identified as Ernest A. Samples, 29, of 1335 Erskine Ave., SE, injuries to back and abdomen; Raymond B. Bibb, 42, of 2670 Cascade Rd., SE, injuries to the neck and right shoulder; Charles Strickland, 30, of 348 Highland Ave., NE, back and leg injuries.

Mrs. Joyce M. Rentz, 21, of 1850 Clairmont Rd., Decatur, was slightly injured when the car she was driving brushed a utility pole in front of 1776 DeFoor Ave., NW, police said.

John Edward Hughey Jr., eight, of 138 Bell St., NE, suffered an injury to the right knee when hit by a car on Bell street, near Decatur street, SE.

Teamsters Picket Road to Atom Site

LAS VEGAS, Nev., May 10 (AP)—The Teamsters Union today threw a picket line across the access road to the Nevada test site where an atomic detonation is scheduled for next Thursday.

The Nevada Test Organization which is in charge of the series of explosions, said the Teamsters' action halted construction in the forward testing area.

Reynolds Electrical and Engineering Co., chief support contractor at the test site, said Teamster and electrical worker unions were involved in a jurisdictional controversy. F. R. McDonald, president of Teamsters Local 631, said Reynolds failed to live up to terms of a work contract.

Gift of Pitcher Opens Atlanta's Swiss Week

By ALLAN HEAD

A pretty Swiss maid in gay costume Friday night presented a pewter wine pitcher to a representative of Gov. Griffin in opening ceremonies for Switzerland Week.

The presentation, at the Atlanta Art Institute, was timed to coincide with the opening of a three-week exhibition of Swiss art.

Mrs. Ursula Etheridge, 3212 Tower View Dr., NE, made the presentation. She was dressed in the traditional Sunday dress of her native Aargau canton state in Switzerland.

The governor was represented by his executive secretary, Tom Gregory. The handmade pitcher, from Wallis canton, bore the inscription: "to Gov. Marvin Griffin, in appreciation of your cordial sentiments and warm personal feelings toward Switzerland."

Participatin in the ceremony were Henri Pillichody, New York manager of the Swiss National Tourist Office, an agency of the Swiss government, and Michael Hack, Swiss consul for Atlanta.

Alderman R. E. Lee Field, on behalf of Mayor Hartsfield, accepted Heidy and Joggily, the two Swiss swans who arrived in Atlanta Thursday as a gift to Atlanta from the mayor of Lucerne, Switzerland.

Park director George I. Simons said the swans are doing well, but will be allowed several more days to adjust to the climate here before being released on the Grant Park lake.

They will be sailing about freely "sometime next week," he said.

A showing of the prize-winning Swiss travel film "Souveniers" was followed by a reception and the art exhibition, described by Pillichody as "a cross section of 200 years of Swiss paintings and graphic arts," was formally opened to the public. An aviation pioneer, Pillichody was greeted on his arrival here by C. E. Woolman, president of Delta Airlines.

Tests Set Up Here for TV In Teaching

Fulton County and state school officials will report to the State Board of Education on Monday on progress in setting up an experiment in use of closed-circuit television in teaching at a Fulton elementary school.

Supt. Paul D. West, Assistant Supt. Douglas MacRae and representatives of a State Department of Education committee which is coordinating the experiment, will make the progress report.

MacRae, who is coordinating the program for the county system, said the experiment will seek to answer such questions as:

1. How effective is TV as a teaching tool?

2. Can it be used effectively to teach large masses of students?

3. Can it be used to make the current teaching processes more meaningful?

A TV workshop for teachers of Conley Hills Elementary School in East Point, which was selected for the "pilot" test, has been scheduled at the school July 29 through Aug. 16. The experiment itself will start with the September school term.

Leaders of the workshop will be Dr. Richard Hull of Ohio State University, Dr. Frank Dunham of the U.S. Office of Education and Miss Elizabeth Donovan and Mrs. Mary Grubbs, both of the State Department of Education. MacRae said programs will include arithmetic, science, languages, art, Georgia history, library and music.

There will be 26 TV sets of 21 inch screens available in the school, with one set to be in each classroom. Others possibly will be located in the school library and auditorium. The equipment will be able to receive commercial telecasts, carry films or broadcasts from the school central studio.

MacRae explained that as many as four lessons could be telecast simultaneously — two "live" and two on film.

The TV studio will be located in a new addition immediately adjoining the existing 20-classroom building.

City Asks Courts To Clear Vote Machines for Runoff

By HERMAN HANCOCK

Voting machines will be used in the May 22 city primary runover if Fulton and DeKalb County superior courts authorize clearing of sufficient machines, Mrs. Robert L. MacDougall, chairman of the City Executive Committee, said Friday.

Petitions will be filed early next week asking permission to clear 200 of the 300 voting machines used in the primary Wednesday, Mrs. MacDougall said.

Under the law machines must remain intact for 30 days unless they are needed for another election. The executive committee has decided to ask a court order to avoid any possibility of any complaint of irregularity.

There will be three runovers—for alderman, post 1, 7th Ward; for alderman, post 2, 8th Ward, and for executive committee, post 1, 6th Ward.

Goodwyn (Shag) Cates, who will run it out in the runover against incumbent Alderman R. M. (Bob) Clark for post 2, 8th Ward, already has notified the committee he will be a candidate.

Other candidates have until 1 p.m. Tuesday to file official notification if their names are to appear on the ballot.

Jack Summers, high vote getter in the original primary, and T. M. Alexander, Negro, who ran second, will run for the 7th Ward post.

Aldermen will be voted on by the entire city but the committee contest will be confined to voters of the 6th Ward. Maurice L. Lasseter and John A. West, will battle it out for election to the committee post.

New Ambassador To Burma Visits His Sister Here

W. P. McConaughy

His appointment by President Eisenhower as Burma ambassador is subject to Senate confirmation, expected next week.

McConaughy was born in Montevallo, Ala. He was graduated from Birmingham-Southern College and did graduate work at Duke University.

When he was 22 he was given a diplomatic assignment in Tampico, Mexico. This was followed by assignments in Japan, Formosa, China, Bolivia and Brazil.

Truant Boys Stone a Man, Lose a Race

Patrolmen J. O. Fincher and E. C. Davidson said the three climbed atop a railroad trestle near 845 Ormewood Ave., SE, and evidently gathered up a large quantity of rocks. They pelted the rocks down on traffic below.

Eventually a street sweeper operated by Minor Mullinax of 1705 East Ave., Decatur, rolled by. Police said the shower of rocks inflicted injuries which sent Mullinax to Grady Hospital for treatment of severe bruises.

One rock went wild and smashed a window at 845 Ormwood Ave., SE, the residence of Mrs. C. D. Lamb.

Fincher and Davidson said the youths fled into a wooded area when they arrived. Later, they were apprehended in a long footrace.

Patrolmen said the trio—two 14 and the other 16—had topped off the day out of school with a raid on a bakery truck and pilfered the lunch pail of a laborer.

(Names of accused persons under 17 years of age are withheld in accordance with the Georgia juvenile court law.)

Aged Bandit Grabs $600; Youth Slugs Florist, Flees

An elderly Negro late Friday robbed an Angier avenue, NE, liquor store of $600, police said. And a youthful white man slugged a Peachtree street florist, but evidently was frightened away before robbing the store.

Tom White, employe of a liquor store at 293 Angier Ave., NE, told police he was depositing the money in a safe at closing time when a tall Negro entered the store, pointed a gun at him and demanded the money. White said he put part of the money in a sack, and offered it, but the gunman demanded the entire box.

After taking the money, he fled.

Rosser Alston, operator of a florist shop at 1429 Peachtree St., NE, said a white youth came in and ordered a corsage. Alston said the customer pulled out his wallet, but had no money. He then reached into another pocket and produced a small amount of change.

The customer suddenly struck him and grabbed him by the throat, Alston was quoted. He said he blacked out and regained consciousness two hours later. Detectives O. L. Adams and J. H. Barnes said Alston was treated by a private physician for facial injuries.

Evidently the youth was frightened away before he had an opportunity to loot the store, officers said.

Does Mr. Bennett Really Mean This?

One of the most astounding statements we've ever heard a public official make was that Thursday by Asst. Atty. Gen. J. J. Bennett that there is nothing wrong or suspicious about a public official accepting gifts from private individuals and that to forbid him to do so would be to destroy his constitutional rights.

Even if technically right, it is still an astounding statement.

The assistant attorney general was testifying in hearings on the "illegal liquor campaign fund" presently administered by the state revenue commissioner's office without audit or supervision by any state official other than the commissioner himself.

It so happens that while the opinion of Mr. Bennett may be within the law and the Constitution, it is very doubtful whether it comes within the bounds of public morality as the American people view them.

The country still remembers the mink coats and the deep freezes which some of the Truman administration figures accepted. They, too, were within their "rights." But they fell afoul of the people's idea of public morality. They were driven from office.

The people have seen the same thing in operation in the Eisenhower administration. The "clean as a hound's tooth" crusade has been embarrassed on quite a few occasions.

There now is a federal statute which forbids any public official from accepting gifts from any person or firm with whom he does business. A number of persons have gone to jail for violating it.

There is a federal law against any member of the armed forces or federal official taking gifts from any contractor or supplier or other individuals with whom the government does business.

Everywhere, apparently, except in Georgia, there is a ban, either by law or moral code, against public officials taking money or gifts from those with whom they do business. In Georgia, to stop this sort of thing deprives a man of his "constitutional rights"—and in Georgia we're very careful about that.

Mr. Williams has regulatory authority over the whisky dealers.

We believe, and we believe the people of Georgia agree, that it is improper, even though legal, for a public official to collect money from those with whom the state has dealings—even on a "voluntary" basis. It is wrong for that official to handle more than $100,000 in funds doing state business without state auditing and supervision.

Mr. Bennett's opinion may be constitutionally correct.

But what about the state's conscience?

School Board Attitude Is Deserving of Praise

The retiring school board of Atlanta is to be commended highly for inviting the newly nominated members of the board to attend future board sessions until they take office as a sort of "on-the-job training program."

Board Chairman Devereaux F. McClatchey, who was defeated in Wednesday's primary, is especially to be praised for his spirit in issuing the invitation. He showed his calibre as a citizen and as a board member in saying that the interest of Atlanta's children comes first.

We hope this spirit is continued into the new administration next year. Factionalism and friction must be kept to a minimum or it will invade every classroom in the city. Nobody, including the newly elected members of the board, wants this to happen. Miss Ira Jarrell, superintendent, repeats that her only desire is to do a good job for the schools and for the children.

The Constitution is pleased with the cooperative attitudes of the retiring and new boards and believes that the transition can be effected without friction and squabbles which would affect the school program. That surely is the desire of everyone concerned, including the parents.

Code Is Recommended For Law Enforcement

Ethics has been defined as the science of moral duty or the science of ideal human character.

A code of ethics is the rule book by which a profession, a trade or an individual tries to live.

The Milwaukee Police Department has adopted a code of ethics.

We offer the Milwaukee code with this one editorial comment. Any law enforcement officer will benefit from the reading and the following thereof.

The code reads:

"As a law enforcement officer my fundamental duty is to serve mankind; to safeguard lives and property; to protect the innocent against deception, the weak against oppression or intimidation, and the peaceful against oppression or intimidation, and the peaceful against violence or disorder; and to respect the constitutional rights of all men to liberty, equality and justice.

"I will keep my private life unsullied as an example to all; maintain courageous calm in the face of danger, scorn, or ridicule, develop self-restraint and be constantly mindful of the welfare of others. Honest in thought and deed in both my personal and official life, I will be exemplary in obeying the laws of the land and the regulations of my department. Whatever I see or hear of a confidential nature or that is confided to me in my official capacity will be kept ever secret unless revelation is necessary in the performance of my duty.

"I will never act officiously or permit personal feelings, prejudices, animosities or friendships to influence my decisions. With no compromise for crime and with relentless prosecution of criminals, I will enforce the law courteously and appropriately without fear or favor, malice or ill will, never employing force or violence and never accepting gratuities.

"I recognize the badge of my office as a symbol of public faith, and I accept it as a public trust to be held so long as I am true to the ethics of the police service. I will constantly strive to achieve these objectives and ideals, dedicating myself before God to my chosen profession . . . law enforcement."

The Scout Pageant Is Democracy's Youth Day

Tonight at Grant Field in Atlanta 17,000 healthy young Americans will put on a show dedicated to Christian living and to freedom.

The event is a pageant called Scout-O-Rama. The cast will come from the Scout troops in the 12 counties of the Atlanta area council.

Scout-O-Rama is an answer to the Communists' May Day.

At Grant Field tonight thousands of American youth will be performing, not before dictators before whom they must lockstep and bow, but before parents, Scouters and friends of Scouting, who are the servants, not the masters, of youth.

Scout-O-Rama has a dual purpose—to inspire greater interest in Scouting and to raise money to pay for camping for Scouts this summer.

Either cause is worthy of your attendance and support.

Development of Rivers Should Be Completed

Georgians appearing before congressional committees this week advanced strong reasons for completion of current waterways projects in the state and launching of new ones.

Development of the Chattahoochee River basin program is two-thirds finished. The immediate need is for funds with which to complete the Fort Gaines lock and dam and $150,000 for planning a dam near Columbia, Ala.

In view of the progress made and previous investments, it would be false economy to entertain any idea of curtailing effort now. Senators contacted by the Georgia delegation saw the light and promised support. A House Appropriations subcommittee pledged only careful consideration to the request for uninterrupted completion of the program by 1962.

Two other mighty rivers, the Savannah and Altamaha, offer great potentialities. Congress should heed pleas for a study of the Altamaha River basin and for putting an end to the delays that halted construction of Hartwell Dam.

Reps. Paul Brown and Prince Preston cited a survey which showed how a navigation channel in the Savannah River to link Augusta and Savannah would expand barge traffic 20 times. It would revitalize industrial development of a large section of Georgia and South Carolina.

Each of the projects described by the Georgia delegations to congressional groups would be wise investments that would unlock a flow of benefits far surpassing the costs.

The World Has Need For 'Human' Engineers

A federal Labor Department official in Atlanta the other day sounded a note to which a worried world should listen.

Miss Margaret Thomas of the labor work skills force urged industry in Georgia and the nation to concentrate on developing men instead of machines. She said natural resources must not be conserved and developed at the neglect of human resources.

Almost every day industry cries for engineers. The need is there—for civil engineeers, for mechanical engineers, for electrical and chemical.

But there is a crying need for human engineers, too. For teachers, preachers and social workers who deal with that resource called personality.

Most of the problems of the world are "people" problems. Human engineering is what it will take to solve them.

After the Elections and Deluge of Taxation, Atlantan Pleads for 'Leave Me Alone Month'

Atlanta — You have, of course, received numerous letters commenting on the result of the recent bond issue election affecting both the city and county, which was overwhelmingly approved by a majority of the "minority," of the total registered voters, that is. While, as is generally the case, in elections of this character many people do not take the trouble to vote, in this instance the lack of interest is certainly significant. It means additional taxes and people are skeptical, and naturally, as to how wisely the funds will be applied to the various objectives when we are all paying the bill.

Now, that all tax returns, city, state and county and federal are, or should be, out of the way, I am reminded of some man in Douglas or Douglasville, Ga., who proposed that with all the various "weeks" being set aside for certain causes, one be designated as "Leave Me Alone Week."

In view of the nervous strain to which most of us have been subjected, I am in favor of a "Leave Me Alone Month."

Vacation season is not far off and we will probably be deluged with advice as to where to go, what to do when we get there, in addition to being admonished to "drive carefully."

This is just a thought from one who believes that if we do not ease up somewhere along the line soon and stop telling people what to do, how to do it and when, we will be in for more serious situations than we have seen.

The Two-Party Trend In South Applauded

Atlanta—The Southern states are finally growing up. The one-party system that has engulfed Southern states for so long is no longer a menace to the Republican Party.

President Eisenhower won in five Southern states in last year's election. I think this is a healthy thing. It means that we Southerners will have a stronger say-so in national politics. I am not a Republican but I am an American and I believe the two-party system is good for America.

'Mothers Are Flowers In Garden of God'

Rome—Once again we are on the eve of another Mother's Day. You'll never find a more miraculous flower than motherhood. Not only is she the foundation of youth but its tiller as well.

One of the most powerful elements against crime lies in the hands of all mothers. She and she alone can best instill in her children, along with their formal education, that intrinsic quality of wisdom that tinctures knowledge and authority with honor, principle and charity.

No one can find a medal of valor for mothers for they are the very metal of life itself.

Each mother is a flower in God's Eternal Garden.

She Tells About Visit To Koinonia Farms

Marietta—I wish to speak up in defense of Dr. Clarence Jordan and the Fellowship Farm at Americus.

A few years ago I visited there, en route to Florida.

In the evening, Dr. Jordan conducted a religious service for some of the neighboring farm children. He told them of the love of God in language that would be interesting to children. It reminded me of vacation Bible School.

The next morning all who wished to do so gathered for morning devotion. We each had a different version of the Bible. Dr. Jordan had a testament in Greek. We compared the versions and felt it was a wonderful experience.

The Southern Drawl Confuses Bostonians

BOSTON—The tide of spring which crested in Atlanta some weeks ago has finally reached here, but the cautious New Englander does not quite believe it yet. I have been going about in one of those lightweight suits we wear down South, the kind you are supposed to wash in a hotel bathtub and hang it up to drip-dry (but if you do you look as if you wore it in the tub and then slept in it all night).

My Boston friends have been taking note of my suit, feeling the weight of the material, sighing heavily in envy and then mopping the beads of perspiration from their brows.

They have such suits, of course, but they are hanging in the attic, waiting to be brought out around the Fourth of July. Meanwhile, they are going about in heavy jackets, gray flannels, with a topcoat over the arm just in case of a cold snap.

"We are well aware it's warm," they say, "but we don't go by the thermometer, old boy. We depend on the seasons. We don't quite trust these fine balmy airs. Might start out in the morning mild as milk and before night find ourselves chilled to the bone."

Even the dogwoods share that cautious view. Down in Philadelphia they are blossoming like mad. Up here they are just beginning to poke out a few timid buds.

More than my wearing apparel marks me as a stranger in these parts. Everywhere else in the United States I have little trouble making myself understood. Here, it's as if I spoke a foreign language.

Everywhere else, I can understand what people are saying to me. Up here, it sounds, I imagine, about like (Algonquin or Narragansett must have sounded to the Pilgrim fathers. It takes me 15 minutes to order a glass of orange juice and a cup of coffee from a waitress who speaks Bostonese with a Polish accent. The bell captain, who sounded half-Boston, half-Italian, had to have an interpreter before he understood I wanted a boy to come get my suitcase so I could check out. The bellboy, an aged Irishman with a brogue made harsh and grating by a lifetime in New England, had to get help from the doorman before he could understand I wanted to check my bags and get a cup of coffee before catching the airport limousine.

The only time I got along just fine was when I was speaking Japanese. There's a wonderful little Japanese restaurant here, tucked away upstairs in an old building down by Symphony Hall. The waitress was fresh from Tokyo.

"Sukiyaki," I said. "Ah, so," she said. "Tempusa shrimps," I said. "Ah, so desaka," she said. She brought the frying pan and started cooking the sukiyaki at the table. "Hachi?" she said, meaning did I want chopsticks to eat with. "Ah, so," I said.

That was the total conversation. And for the first time in Boston, I got fed without debate.

'Mother' Degree Hard To Earn

Mother's Day and I are the same age, chronologically speaking or yearwise. That is, in the same year the second Sunday in May was set aside as Mother's Day, a day late in December was set aside as my birthday. The coincidence ends there.

However, 11 years ago this week at the Piedmont Hospital the nurses said they had never yet had a man to become a mother, but as an expectant father I came the closest of any they ever had seen.

That is not the reason I am reminding you tomorrow is the day we honor her who for so many years put up with us.

Not that all mothers are worthy of the honor.

"Mother" is not a title to be used indiscriminately like the "Honorable" with which a politician "backs" a letter.

We can "spill those rivers of hallowed slush," as some poet has said. But a realistic appraisal of the subject points up the fact that attainment of the maternal state guarantees no halo.

The second Sunday in May is Her Day only if she has mothered the brood.

She is Mother Cum Laude only if she has passed the required courses—in cooking and sewing; in spreading both the peanut butter and the paycheck as far as they will go; in consoling and cajoling; in mending broken toys and hearts; in nursing, whether it be chicken pox or a bad case of first and unrequited love; in giving and forgiving; in hours of patient waiting which a sentimental poem calls "The Mother Watch":

"She never closed her eyes 'til we were safe in bed . . ."

If she's gone through that curriculum, son, then she's entitled to the best you have to give her on the morrow. The best is up to you.

And if you'll let me get more than a little bit personal, I'll say I have a mother who completed the course in a day when the kitchen stove was a red-hot range, the home laundry was hand-powered and the only exhaust fan in the house was a flat piece of bamboo plied vigorously by whatever hand was not mixing the batter or tending the baby. (In those days, a baby sitter was something you first powdered, then spanked.)

As they work it in on the TV shows, if it's not against the rules, I'd like to say, "Hey, Mom! Happy Mother's Day!"

Church Can Help 'Unworthy' Person

"I am not good enough to join the church." Many times I have heard people say that. Many others feel that though they may not express it. However, many who are conscious of their own imperfections know that in truth they are as good as many who are members of the church. Sincerely feeling their own sense of unworthiness and at the same time seeing certain others taking active leadership in the church, many build up a feeling of resentment toward the church.

Such resentment is understandable but it comes as a result of a mistaken idea.

If one says, "I am not good enough" and sincerely means it, it is a noble statement. To add, "to join the church" is a serious mistake. The greatest saints of all times have been the first to recognize their imperfections. Near the close of his life, St. Paul said, "Christ Jesus came into the world to save sinners; of whom I am chief" (I Timothy 1:15). "Have mercy upon me" is a frequent prayer of the Psalmist.

One is reminded of two men that Jesus told about who went to church. One man stood before the altar and bragged about his goodness, thanking the Lord that he was better than other men. The other man merely prayed, "God be merciful to me, a sinner." Jesus said it was the second man who found help and salvation in the church (Luke 18:10-14).

Each of us should feel, "I am not good enough." But instead of keeping us out, it should cause us to unite eagerly with the church. The purpose of the church is to help those to become better who are not good enough. One goes to school, not because he knows it all, but because he wants to learn. One goes to a hospital, not because he is free of any sickness, but because he is sick and wants to be well.

When one unites with a church, attends the services, participates in the activities, helps to build the church stronger, makes friends with other people in the church—if one does these things it will make him day by day and year by year a better person. To say, "I am not good enough" should be a confession rather than a smug boast. Confession should lead to repentance and repentance should lead to change.

The church is the custodian of the glorious Gospel. It is nonsense for any person to express admiration for Christ and yet be indifferent toward the church. The church is dedicated to the one purpose of lifting up Christ for the world to see. The church is holy because He is holy.

"Because I am not good enough, I join the church." That is the right way to feel about it.

Milledgeville Union-Recorder

New York has joined several other states in approving a vehicle inspection law requiring automobile owners to have inspections of their cars made in privately owned garages designated by the state.

Only one-third of the states have compulsory inspection laws although many legislators are discussing them. Certainly this seems to be another step toward the elimination of traffic accidents. Cars that are kept in safe operating condition are certainly more desirable on our highways. Too many accidents are the result of mechanical failures.

Georgia can well afford to consider a compulsory automobile inspection law.

Alger Hiss Attempts To Clear His Name

WASHINGTON—Alger Hiss, a free man who has served his sentence, is back in the news. At least he hopes he will be in the news because he has re-stated his defense in a book, "In the Court of Public Opinion," published by Alfred A. Knopf, which is an appeal to public opinion to reverse the verdict of the courts.

Hiss felt that public opinion contributed to his conviction by the courts and he now feels public opinion can be appealed to, to alter the verdict.

This is a land of free speech and Hiss is entitled to expound his case as often as he wishes.

I have read with interest Hiss' summation of his side of the argument, but I don't see how any reader of the book can accept the author's plea of innocence out of hand without at the same time reviewing all of the evidence which the government presented at the second trial and on Hiss' appeals. There have been miscarriages of justice in the past, but I doubt if many of them have been corrected by public opinion; they have more often been corrected by the courts themselves. Hiss exhausted the judicial process.

But Hiss is now, by choice, in the court of public opinion and he has nothing to lose.

There is one aspect of Hiss' story which seems to me worth noting especially. You will no doubt recall how, at the time the Chambers - Hiss matter first became public, many people just couldn't believe that there would be pro-Communist people in the government who would be willing to turn over secret papers to a foreign power.

But now Hiss himself stresses that there must have been quite a few in the State Department from 1933 to 1937 and later who were willing to pass out classified documents to the Communists. He points to the Trade Agreements Division, the Far Eastern Division and other "active sources." He mentions that while Julian Wadleigh, a State Department employe, estimated he gave Chambers some 400 documents, this number on Chambers' testimony would reach to 1,000 to 2,500 documents.

Obviously Hiss is satisfied to leave the impression that the State Department was once a "soft touch" for document - obtainers. While this fact does not prove his innocence it shows that the problem of espionage was much more acute than many could imagine, that we came tardily to recognize the danger and deal with it.

But it has now been met with sustained alertness and there is no evidence that we are going to forget the lessons.

Democrats Open Up On Ike's Absences

WASHINGTON—Recent developments reveal a change in attitude of President Eisenhower and his Democratic opposition toward each other. Democrats, so long timorous and hesitant, now are firing directly at the President instead of making his Cabinet members their chief target.

On his part, the President, obviously nettled at criticism of his frequent absences from the White House and his Army habit of delegating authority, is beginning to insist that he is President in fact as well as name. This is helping the Democrats in their campaign to pin responsibility on him for his administration.

As good a place as any to start the story of changing relationships is with the May issue of the opposition party's organ, the Democratic Digest. Its featured article and its over-all theme is, "absentee government." That line also is carried under the cartoon on its cover.

The cartoon shows the White House in the background with a helicopter hovering just above it. On the lawn in front are the President's traveling bags and his golf bag and, to one side, a sign with the words, "forward mail to." Underneath, one after the other, are the names Gettysburg, Cypress Point, Thomasville, Augusta, Camp David, Burning Tree, Palm Springs and Denver.

The whole effect is quite saucy.

As a frontispiece on the reverse side of the cover is a "Dear Fellow Democrats" letter from National Chairman Paul M. Butler which points to recent election victories in Michigan, Texas and New Mexico and then observes:

"These Democratic victories show that the public is awakening to the fact that dangerous drift and confusion have marked the second Eisenhower term. The public is beginning to realize that the Eisenhower 'team' is tired and frustrated and is likely to remain that way.

"While there is much talk of 'modern Republicanism', the executive branch of the government is scarcely going through the motions of supporting the President's program and Republicans in Congress are in open rebellion against the weary, lame-duck President."

There is no pulling of punches.

Nor was President Eisenhower spared by Democrats, including former President Harry Truman, in festivities here. They concentrated heavy fire on the administration's "tight money" policy, riddling it as a boon for bankers and a hardship on small business, veterans, homeowners, housewives and anybody who has a vote.

The President could hardly have missed all of that. At his first opportunity, which was in his Wednesday news conference, he took occasion to say with the crisp and emphatic tone and the grim jaw that he displays when he is provoked:

"The monetary policy is mine and nobody under me is going to change that."

Tax Liens of $273,129 Filed Against Steve Tate

GAINESVILLE, May 10 (AP)—Three government liens totaling $273,129.33 have been filed against Steve C. Tate, former state highway chairman and prominent north Georgia industrialist, for delinquent income taxes dating back to 1944, it was revealed today.

Court records showed that the liens were filed in Pickens County, where Tate owns extensive marble property in the city of Tate, named after his family, and in adjoining Dawson County.

The government attachments charged Tate with being delinquent in his income taxes for the years 1944-1955.

FORMER SENATOR

Tate served as chairman of the highway commission from 1943 to 1947 under the administration of former Gov. Ellis Arnall.

He is also a former state senator from Pickens County and executor of the S. C. Tate estate, which includes the timberlands, marble-lands and quarrying processing properties established by his uncle.

In Atlanta, U.S. District Attorney James Dorsey said he doubted the government could legally recover the taxes due for more than six years because of the statute of limitations.

CONVICTED IN 1956

Harold Sheppard, acting director of the Georgia District of the U.S. Bureau of Internal Revenue, said a clause in the statute allows collection more than six years back "if the amount of the unpaid taxes totals more than 25 per cent of the person's income or if there is a fraud involved."

Tate pleaded nolo contendere last Sept. 10 to charges he conspired to avoid taxes on illegal liquor, according to the U.S. District Court records in Atlanta. He was sentenced to two years in prison but it was suspended when he paid a $1,500 fine. He was placed on three year's probation.

Knox Walker Retiring as School Aide

Dr. Knox Walker, who has been on the administrative staff of Fulton County schools since 1930, will retire July 1, School Supt. Paul D. West said Friday.

Dr. Knox Walker

Walker, who has been an assistant superintendent since 1947, is leaving his school post because he has reached the compulsory retirement age of sixty-five.

More than 400 fellow educators honored him at a dinner of the Fulton County Teachers Assn. earlier this week and gave him a "going-away" gift, a $400 check.

Prior to joining the Fulton school staff, Walker was superintendent of Dublin city schools. Previous to that he was superintendent of Carrollton schools.

Active in a number of educational organizations, Dr. Walker is a past president of the Georgia Congress of Parents and Teachers and is a first vice president of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers.

Walker is a past president of the Robert Burns Club. He is an elder of Morningside Presbyterian Church.

Postponed once by inclement weather, "Family Day" will be held Saturday, "rain or shine," Lockheed Aircraft Corp. officials said Friday.

The event will be climaxed Saturday night with the naming of "Miss Georgia Aviation." About 20 beauties, employes in various Lockheed departments, will compete for the title.

ROK Officers From Benning Visiting Here

Seventy South Korean Army officers will spend the weekend with Atlanta families to get a first-hand view of the American way of life.

The Republic of Korea officers, now taking advanced military training at Ft. Benning, will be guests of members of the Atlanta chapter of Christian Businessmen's Committee International.

The businessmen's group will give a breakfast for the ROK officers at 8 a.m. Saturday at the Biltmore Hotel after their arrival here.

Col. John M. Fair, USAF reserve, will address the group at a meeting at the Atlanta Bible Institute Saturday evening. Robert E. Mell, a Rruid Hills Presbyterian Church layman, is chairman of the CBCI group.

The ROK officers will spend the weekend with 35 local families "to see how Christian Americans live," Col. Fain said.

Fund Stand Only Aide's, Cook Says

The aide who said state officials may legally accept private funds was not speaking for the law department, Atty. Gen. Eugene Cook declared Friday.

Julian Bennett, assistant attorney general assigned to the governor's office told a special investigative committee Thursday that there was nothing illegal in Revenue Commissioner T. V. Williams' accepting contributions to carry on his campaign against moonshine.

APPEARED ON OWN

Cook said Bennett was appearing "in his private capacity" and "not on the request of the attorney general or the governor."

"I have no comment on that fund unless, and until, I am called upon for an official ruling by an appropriate official," the attorney general asserted.

Under law, the attorney general's office may render official opinion only at the request of constitutional officers.

Cook said he has not discussed Williams' controversial fund with the governor and had not spoken to Bennett on the subject until after the committee hearing Thursday.

"I did discuss it with Mr. Bennett after he testified, for the sole purpose of seeing just what he had to say to the committee," Cook continued.

STRICTLY UNOFFICIAL

Bennett reported that he had "made it plain" to the panel that he was appearing as a private individual, Cook said.

Williams revealed recently that he had received almost $116,000 in voluntary contributions to a fund which he says has been used to ferret out illegal liquor operations in Georgia.

Williams told the committee Wednesday that he has not kept lists either of contributors or informers.

North Georgia Democrats Hear Vandiver Rip GOP

By WILLIAM M. BATES
Constitution Political Editor

BLAIRSVILLE, May 10—Democratic leaders from 18 north Georgia counties heard the Republican Party denounced on farm and segregation issues Friday night.

The occasion was the first general meeting of the North Georgia Democratic Club, a newly formed organization aimed at stirring up Democratic efforts in those counties where Republicans are a factor in local politics.

Lt. Gov. Ernest Vandiver concentrated his fire on the 1954 anti-segregation decision of the U.S. Supreme Court. He said the court "had prostituted the spirit and letter of the Constitution."

"JUDICIAL TYRANNY"

"I feel we have entered an age of judicial tyranny," Vandiver said. "The Supreme Court has usurped powers it was not given under the Constitution, and the time has come to place a curb on these unfaithful guardians of our rights."

Although the North Georgia Democratic Club does not endorse candidates in Democratic primaries, the president, Stanley Daves of Fannin County, referred to Vandiver as "the next governor of Georgia." Daves is chairman of the Fannin County Democratic Committee.

Agriculture Commissioner Phil Campbell blasted away at Republican farm policies. He said the Eisenhower administration has rigged the farm laws to favor the Republican Midwest and to discriminate against the Democratic South.

HIRED HAND

However, Campbell said he would not discuss Secretary of Agriculture Benson because "he is only a hired hand doing what they tell him to do."

"I refer to the top man as 'Hoover-hower'," Campbell declared.

Former State Rep. Garland T. Byrd, chairman of the Georgia Young Democrats, denounced the GOP as the "party of irresponsibility" and described Democratic Party as the "party of responsibility."

More than 200 Democratic leaders, including several members of the General Assembly, attended the rally, which was held near Vogel State Park between Dahlonega and Blairsville. Rain forced cancellation of a planned outdoor rally and the activities were moved indoors.

Tomorrow's Sermons Will Honor Mothers

By KAY McLEOD

Honor thy mother!

The fifth commandment, the only commandment with a promise, says: "Honor thy father and thy mother: that thy days may be long upon the land which the Lord thy God giveth thee."

The first woman on earth was named Eve "because she was the mother of all living."

Down through the ages, a mother has been many things.

SHARES JOYS

A mother is a teacher and an example for her children. She shares the joys and sorrows of her family. She is a source of comfort and tender care. The scriptures bear out her being all of these.

Mother's Day is defined as "a day appointed for the honoring of one's mother." It will be celebrated Sunday.

On this day a flower, generally a rose, is worn—a red rose if one's mother is living and a white rose if she has died. Sermons pay tribute to her.

She may be the honor guest in church. Sometimes flowers are given to the oldest and youngest mother present.

At Second-Ponce de Leon Baptist Church, parents will bring their young children for a dedication service.

DEDICATION SERVICES

Peachtree Road Lutheran Church will observe the Festival of the Christian Family at both morning services.

Sunday will be Family Day at Bethel Methodist Church. The Rev. Wendell Mixson will explain the use of flowers in relation to Mother's Day.

Typical of the scores of sermons preached about mothers are "An Ideal Mother," by Dr. J. Herman Allison at the Stewart Avenue Methodist Church; "Jesus Remembered His Mother," the Rev. John H. Bridges at Nellie Dodd Methodist; "Motherhood at Its Best," the Rev. Paul Aiken at Kirkwood Baptist; "Occupation Housewife," Dr. Monroe Swilley at Second-Ponce de Leon Baptist; "A Mother and Her Son," the Rev. Max Milligan Jr. at Clairmont Presbyterian; "Faith of Our Mother," the Rev. John Sadler at Kirkwood Presbyterian, and "Honor Thy Mother," Dr. Clarence K. Derrick at St. John's Lutheran Church.

The building is being financed through the sale of bonds. Approximately $50,000 in bonds have already been sold and construction is to begin shortly.

The new sanctuary will seat about 600 persons. Focal points of the new building will be an Old South front with huge white columns and a tall tapering steeple.

Beginning Sunday, members of the congregation will attend a week of revival services to be led by the Rev. Ed McGee, an evangelist from Atlanta. Guest song leader will be Jim Murray from the First Baptist Church of Jonesboro.

The Rev. Howard L. Lamar is pastor of the church; John Gilbert is chairman of the board of deacons and Bernard Knowles is chairman of the building committee.

Episcopal Meeting

Some 200 Episcopal churchmen will be in Atlanta Saturday for their spring conference.

Host church for the meeting which gets under way at 1:30 p.m., is All Saints' Episcopal Church, site of the conference.

Highlight of the meeting will be a closing address by the Rt. Rev. Randolph R. Claiborne Jr., bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of Atlanta.

During the afternoon and evening sessions, laymen will participate in sessions that emphasize "The Layman and His Ministry."

At a 6:45 p.m. dinner meeting, George E. London, president of the Episcopal Laymen's Assn. of the Diocese of North Carolina will speak on the subject, "Laymen Can Be the Golden Key to Parish Success."

Adjournment will be at 8:30 p.m.

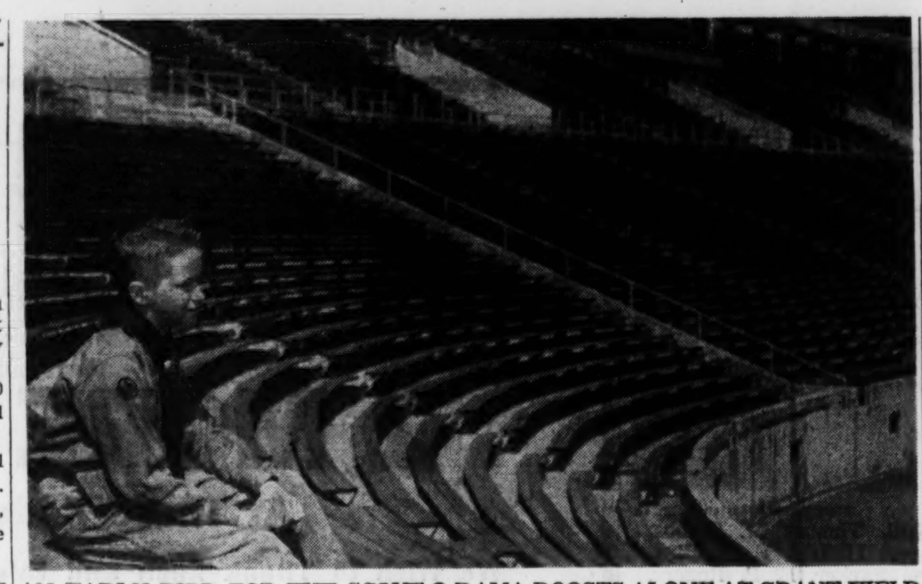

Youth Building

The Rehoboth Baptist Church has opened a campaign to build a $100,000 youth building that will serve, not only its own young people, but all of the youth of the Rehoboth community.

Rehoboth community, located just east of Decatur on the Lawrenceville Highway, has no recreational facilities, the Rev. Lester Buice, pastor, said. The young people now have to go outside of the community for recreation or entertainment, he added.

The new building is to serve as a center for a "church supervised recreational program." The church, said the Rev. Mr. Buice, is acting "on the assumption that our children are the answer for the future for both church and community."

The two-story, contemporary-style structure also will house six Sunday School departments with room for 30 classes in addition to a gymnasium equipped for indoor recreation. Playing fields for outdoor activities also will be built.

Georgia Doctors Pushing Salk for All Under 40

The Medical Association of Georgia Friday began a statewide drive to get all persons under 40 vaccinated against polio.

Dr. Don Cathcart of Atlanta, chairman of the MAG polio committee, wired chairmen of special polio committees in district societies and asked that medical societies and doctors "stimulate public demand" for the Salk vaccine during the next week.

Free vaccine supplied by the federal government is available for persons under 20 and pregnant women through June 30—unless the time is extended by Congress. Those between 20 and 40 years of age are urged to get commercial vaccine from their private physicians.

Dr. Cathcart said Georgia has been assured of 1,000,000 doses of Salk vaccine during April, May and early June. He said 700,000 doses of that total are available to commercial outlets.

He stressed, however, that unless doctors and druggists order the vaccine, no consignments will be made to Georgia.

"We have been assured that the South will receive priority on consignments of commercial vaccine," Dr. Cathcart said. The South has priority because the polio season here is earlier than in the North.

EDDY ARNOLD TO SING

17,000 Youths Will Stage Vast Scout-o-Rama Tonight

More than 17,000 Cubs, Boy Scouts and Explorers of the 12-county Atlanta Area Council will stage the 1957 Scout-O-Rama at 8 p.m. Saturday at Grant Field.

Southeastern Scouting leaders will be among the spectators expected to pour into the North avenue football stadium to see such attractions as hillbilly singer Eddy Arnold, a 1,500-voice choral group, a human missile fired from a cannon and a greased pig chase.

The 1,500-voice chorus will be led by Graham Jackson. Music for the Scout-O-Rama will be furnished by the Third Army Band from Fort McPherson.

One act will see 200 Scouts build an Indian village, then perform various Indian dances. In another act, a Western frontier village and fort will be erected.

The program also will spotlight 3,000 boys in a demonstration of such Scouting skills as first aid, life-saving, making fire by friction and fighting forest fires.

Scouts and their dates will participate in a mass square dance which will be called by Arnold.

Live as If Christ Will Come Today

QUESTION: Do you think the storms gathering together in the Middle East will culminate in the great battle of Armageddon? Are the circumstances right for this fierce and mighty battle?

P. S. E.

ANSWER: The Bible speaks of a final war which will be a war to end all wars because of its ferocity, and that is called the Battle of Armageddon.

I believe there is significance in the movements and developments in the Middle East, but it would be unwise to venture an assertion to the effect that these present events will lead to Armageddon.

The Bible says: "It is not for you to know the times and the seasons, which the Father hath put in His own power." (Acts 1:7)

The setting of dates, or precise predictions is not encouraged by the Bible. These are for God alone to know. If men could know the exact moment of Christ's return, they would continue to live carelessly until the very day before His coming.

But Jesus said: "Watch therefore, for in a day and an hour that ye know not, the Son of man cometh." It could be next week. It could be today, it could be even as you read this column. We are told He WILL come, but the time of His coming remains a mystery. We should all work as though He were not coming for a thousand years, and we should all live as though He were coming today.

GEORGIA NEWS ROUNDUP

100 Families Will Get Farm Honors Thursday

Eugene R. Westbrook, Rte. 1, Roswell, will be among approximately 100 families in north Georgia to be honored at the annual Farmy Family Achievement Day sponsored by the University of Georgia and the Farmers Home Administration. This special recognition will be given Thursday in Athens.

R. W. Jackson, County FHA Supervisor, said a similar meeting was held at Tifton for families in the southern part of the state.

Each family selected for this honor will receive a certificate from the institutions where the meeting is held which will carry a citation recognizing their outstanding success in farm and home operations. Briefly here are some of the accomplishments of Westbrook which earned him this recognition.

As a 4-H Club member he specialized in livestock projects and was winner of Georgia State 4-H Club livestock judging in 1950 being rewarded with a trip to the Chicago 4-H Convention.

He began a joint Grade A dairy operation with his father in 1949 and in 1953 at the age of eighteen he received a Farmers Home Administration loan to buy his father's half interest in the dairy cows. Since that time he has increased his herd from 17 cows to 34 cows and his net worth from $4,000 to $10,700.

Bomb Call Grounds Flight Out of Atlanta

CHARLOTTE, N.C., May 10 (AP)—An Eastern Air Lines constellation was grounded here Friday night for more than two hours after the company's office in Atlanta received an anonymous telephone call saying there was a bomb aboard.

The plane, flight 320 en route from Atlanta to New York, carried about 30 passengers. Henry S. McConnell, district sales manager, said a two-hour search produced nothing.

Ask $50,000 To House 150,000 Pets

"Homeless the Hound" will launch a bond selling drive Monday to provide himself and 149,000 other animals with a home.

The Atlanta Humane Society plans to sell $50,000 worth of "pet stock" to double the number of kennels of the humane society. The stock will have a face value of $1.

The "pet stock" will be sold at eight downtown stores and by local stock brokers.

Stock also can be purchased by mail at Pet Stock, Atlanta 1.

While the stock will not earn money, "it is an investment in providing humane treatment and placement for the homeless animals of Atlanta," said society president Joseph W. Parris.

"The society will guarantee the dividends in the way of good animal care," he added.

Zoning Cleared For Apartments

The aldermanic board's zoning committee has cleared the way for construction of an 150-unit, $1,500,000 apartment structure on a five-acre tract on Peachtree road, NE, 756 feet northeast from the intersection of Stratford road.

Lanham Sees Foreign Aid Cut

WASHINGTON, May 10 (AP)—Rep. Lanham of Rome, Ga., predicted today the House Appropriations Committee will cut the foreign aid budget to around $3,500,000,000 for the year starting July 1. President Eisenhower originally asked $4,400,000,000.

In a report to his constituents, Lanham said an appropriations subcommittee, of which he is a member, had called administration witnesses "in an effort to pin the administration down to some definite proposals to justify "the $4,400,000,000 the President asked. This, he said, "has resulted in the President's reducing his request by a half Billion dollars."

"It was apparent to our subcommittee that all was confusion and that nobody in the administration had any definite proposals for spending the $4,400,000,000."

Red Boss Says Peace Is Up to U.S., Russia

United States and talk with President Eisenhower but would "not be accepted as a tourist" and has had no official invitation.

He has no theoretical objection to Poland or other Socialist countries accepting aid from capitalist countries but they should be careful "not to drown in honey."

He considered Stalin a great contribution to communism but he made mistakes which will continue to be pointed out "in order that others might not make the same errors."

The intervention of the United States in the Mideast is to be condemned but the Soviet Union's intervention in Hungary is "different" as the Hungarians have an independent state and an independent government.

STILL WANT TALKS

"We have frequently stated in the past," he said, "that we are prepared to confer now and that a meeting of the leaders of governments would be a useful thing. We continue to maintain that position. But the questions for discussion at such a conference should be prepared beforehand, otherwise there would be disappointments for the participants in the conference and for the people they represent.

"Now as to the problems, I might say we believe that the main problem that requires discussion is the question of bringing to an end the tensions in international relations, in particular those between the great powers. Second, there is the question of European security. I say Europe because it is the area in which relations are most tense.

"There is a knot which creates tension. The question of establishing European security should lead to the liquidation of military blocs and perhaps the creation of some kind of body where members could exchange views and prevent new tensions. It might be a special body or, if enough confidence could be established, then discussions might be carried on in the United Nations."

At this point it appeared as if something funny had occurred to him.

TENSION LIKE CABBAGE

"The case of international tension is like a cabbage," he began. "If you tear off the leaves one by one you come to the heart. And the heart of this matter is relations between the U.S.S.R. and the United States."

"That is because," he continued, "they are the two most powerful nations industrially and from the military point of view so far as atomic and hydrogen bombs are concerned as well as conventional arms. These are the two powers which engage in the most active polemics. We believe that if it were possible to come to an agreement with the United States we could possibly come to an agreement with Britain and other powers. Our agreement should not be to the detriment of our relations with other powers."

At this point Khrushev started to smack away at NATO. Norway entered NATO, he maintained, "as a result of a misunderstanding. A majority of Norwegians would like to leave that organization now."

He said the same was true of Denmark and the Netherlands.

"The only other power that might threaten us is Luxembourg," he said with a wry smile. He added a word for Canada. "Canada is another great power," he said. "We look on Canada as a peace-loving country which finds itself in NATO as a result of peculiar circumstances. Therefore, it is the Soviet Union and the United States who must settle these problems.

"Your country is a highly developed capitalist country. Ours is a highly developed socialist country. Ideological problems will always exist between us. But that should not prevent us from having good neighborly relations. That is one course.

"The other course is to continue stockpiling weapons — atomic weapons and rockets, including intercontinental missles. As a result of this there is always a chance that by some mistake or accident war would start. That would be a great misfortune for our two countries and for the whole world. Therefore, we have a great desire for talks with the United States.

PERHAPS 200 YEARS

"But if we are confronted with conditions such as (Secretary of State) Dulles likes to put forward, such as liberation of eastern European countries from 'slavery,' it might take 200 years before we ever come together. For on these matters we are inflexible.

"You consider our system is a slave system. Marx wrote about it more than 100 years ago. It would be better not to talk about it."

Khrushchev proposed that the German question be left out of his proposed two or four-power conference. Germany's lot should be settled by the Germans, themselves, he said. "It is a matter between (West German Chancellor) Adenauer and (East Germany's President) Grotewohl," he said.

"If we leave these things apart there is no problem on which we cannot agree," he insisted. "If it were another meeting like Geneva I am not sure it would be useful. But if we could have a fruitful meeting it would be very useful. As far as problems like disarmament, problems of atomic and hydrogen bombs, problems of bomb tests, we are always ready to exchange views in order to reach reasonable agreement."

DIPLOMATIC CHANNELS

Khrushchev insisted that diplomatic channels were not sufficient for the purposes he had in mind. "We've always had diplomatic channels," he said. "But if it were a meeting between (Soviet Foreign Minister) Gromyko and Dulles it might take 100 years," he said. "Our grandchildren would only see the result of that."

Khrushchev said he knew of no plans for such a conference either of four or two powers as he suggested. He was insistent upon his belief that the United States wants war. "I consider that to be an undisputable fact," he said. "A country which does not want war would not continue to develop its armed forces and to stockpile weapons and would seek agreement with the other side. There is no doubt that the American people do not want war. But in your highly centralized capitalist state the government is made up of representatives of banks and large concerns who act without telling the people about their profits.

Ike Predicts Final End to Solid South

South' controlled by one political party."

In 1956, he said, the "national ticket carried 23 of the 25 Southern counties that have cities of more than 100,000—and all together carried 44 of the 57 most populous counties."

Last year, Eisenhower won the electoral votes of Virginia, Florida, Texas, Tennessee, Kentucky, and Louisiana. Each sent delegates to the conference here as did Alabama, Arkansas, Georgia, Mississippi, North and South Carolina.

The President told the conference the increase in party strength "has not been limited to the presidential campaigns. The total Republican vote cast for Congress in all 12 states went from 19 per cent in 1952 to 26.4 per cent in 1956. We now hold nine of the 114 House seats from these states. That's a start in the direction of a responsible two party system."

Retirement Institute Set at College

The Georgia State College of Business Administration will hold a one-day institute on "Problems of Retirement" Friday, May 17.

The institute is designed to aid men and women who are approaching retirement age—and those who already have retired. Subjects will include income maintenance and employment, leisure time needs, health and medical care, housing and living arrangements.

Willis H. Reals, chairman of the committee on gerontology of Washington University, St. Louis, Mo., will speak on "Facing Retirement."

Beck's Profit as Trustee Is Told

most successful to be found in organized labor," Beck said.

He has declined to answer questions before the committee on the grounds that to do so might incriminate him.

$20,000 IN FEES

Using rounded-out figures, Kennedy explained the Leheney transaction like this:

Beck and Hedlund acquired mortgages with a par value of $81,000 at a discount price of $71,000 in May 1956.

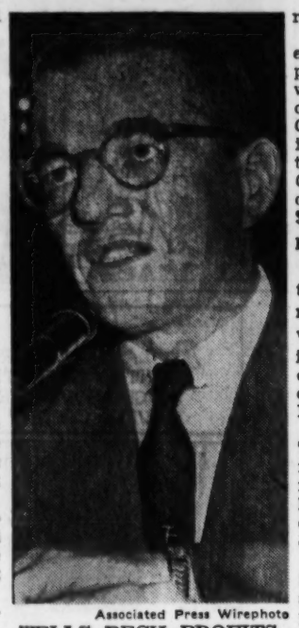

They held the mortgages, which had actually been bought with Teamsters funds in the names of Beck and Hedlund, for six or seven months, during which time mortgage payments reduced the par value from $81,000 to about $71,000 and the net price to Beck and Hedlund to about $61,000.

Then they sold them last January to the Leheney Memorial fund for $71,000, par value at the time, instead of the $61,000 net discounted price.

Hedlund agreed with the committee that fees on other mortgage deals ran to more than $20,000 and that they were split among Beck, himself and Simon Wampold, a union lawyer.

CALLED KICKBACKS

Chairman McClellan (D - Ark) described the payments to Beck as "kickbacks." He asked Hedlund whether he meant that for Beck, salaried by the Teamsters Union to handle its affairs and invest its funds, also profited from the investments.

TELLS BECK PROFITS
Banker Donol Hedlund

Hedlund said that was right.

After leading Hedlung through a mass of involved figures, Robert F. Kennedy, committee counsel asked: "Then a total of $20,425.27 was split among the three of you?"

Kennedy said the total included a $7,500 brokerage fee on the purchase of 1½ million dollars worth of Detroit mortgages, a fee of $10,741.62 to The Investment Co. on purchase of $2,148,324.89 in mortgages at a discount from the National Mortgage Insurance Co., $4,197.25 in discounts on 35 other loans, and an unexplained $936.

HELD 6 MONTHS

Hedlund testified Beck was trustee for the "Ray Leheney Memorial Fund" of about $80,000 which had been collected from unions after Leheney's death. Leheney was head of the union label department of the old American Federation of Labor.

The witness related that the Teamsters' Union advanced the money to buy $71,000 worth of mortgages. He said he and Beck held them for six or seven months during which about $10,000 worth of the mortgages were retired.

Then the balance of the portfolio was sold to the fund for some $71,000, Hedlund said. He put the profit at $11,585.04, without going into details.

Summarizing this case, Kennedy said Beck borrowed the union's money, bought the mortgages, sold them to the fund at a profit, then returned the original mortgage purchase sum to the union treasury.

The transaction was handled through National Mortgages, Inc., a firm Beck helped to set up to channel millions of dollars of Teamsters' funds into mortgage investments.

Panel Slices Farm Budget

tal request could be reduced. This the committee cut to $1,610,024,808, a cut of 14.7 per cent.

The other $2,083,000,000 was to cover price support and other losses suffered on various farm programs during the past year and thus could not be slashed.

Eisenhower originally asked $1,254,000,000 for the soil bank under which farmers are paid to curb production of such surplus crops as wheat, corn, cotton, tobacco and rice. He later cut the request to one billion dollars.

The committee voted to provide only 765 million dollars and added to the bill a stipulation barring the administration from asking for more than 750 million dollars for the program in fiscal 1959.

It said city folks consider the soil bank a scheme for "giving farmers something for nothing."

The committee said the plan was not working because farmers rent their poorer land to the government, increase per-acre yields on other lands and are even allowed by the government to plant other crops to offset reduced production of soil bank crops.

ALABAMA CATCHER MACK JONES SLIDES SAFELY INTO THIRD BASE IN SIXTH INNING FRIDAY

Johnny Menger Had His Laugh in the 8th, However, When He Talked Jones Into Leaving Third on a Fly Ball Without Tagging Up

Bama Evens SEC Playoffs, 'Outslogs' Tech In Mud, 11-10

Lane Akers Slams Four Hits But Tide's 3-Run Rally Wins

By MICKEY LOGUE

Alabama's baseball team, on an afternoon designed for spitball pitching, proved slightly better "mudders" than Georgia Tech Friday to draw even in their race for the Southeastern Conference championship.

Despite Tech's 15-hit barrage, Coach Happy Campbell's club pulled the game out of the drink, 11-10, on a three-run ninth inning rally.

Seven hundred fans have seldom sat through a baseball match under more miserable conditions for witnesses and contestants than was the "slogfest" at Rose Bowl Field.

It started drizzling early in the game, and when the end came three hours and 16 minutes later, some must have been wondering if this was the type day that first caused Noah to consider the prospect of a flood.

The rain and mud made fielding and base-running a slippery business, but if it hurt the batters one bit, you couldn't prove it by the pitchers.

Lane Akers and Jack Kubiszyn had one of their poorer afternoons shortstopping, but were the leading sluggers for Tech and Alabama.

Kubiszyn, whose miscues threatened to make him the game's goat, redeemed himself with his big bat. After fouling off nine straight pitches, he parked Bob Patton's change-up over the left field fence near the foul line in the first frame. It was good for three runs that put Bama out front until Tech reaped a five-run harvest in the eighth.

Third baseman Johnny Menger's three singles, catcher Ted Thomas' two one-basers, including one good for a pair of runs, Bobby Dover's triple and Patton's double were other important Jacket jolts.

Tony Sansone, subbing for injured Chuck Bancroft at second base in excellent fashion, netted three singles and three RBI's for Bama. However, the most vital poke of the game came off the bat of pitcher-right-fielder Bobby Ledford, whose third one base blow scored Norm Koury with the winning run in the ninth. Ledford's fine peg home stopping Tech's run flow at five in the eighth also meant the difference.

If the weather relents, the teams settle their best-of-three series here Saturday at 2 p.m. Pete Reaves, who preserved Friday's victory by holding Tech runless in the ninth, will go for Alabama while Coach Joe Pittard will counter with either Jack Jordan or Jimmy Nelson. All are right-handers.

The story of the game was on the bases, where the Jackets left 12 players to Alabama's seven. Bama had 10 hits.

The Tide used three pitchers, Ledford hurling the most—7⅓ frames, and Reaves the most effectively. Patton's 7⅓ innings were Tech's longest stint. Jack Jordan, who fired only one frame, received his first loss in four decisions.

Singles by Patton, Menger, Akers, Terry, and a hit batsman (Gray Potter) and Kubiszyn's error provided Tech's five eighth-inning runs.

Herb Kosten's single, two Jordan walks, a misplayed fly to right by Earl Moore and Ledford's one-baser sewed it up for Bama in the ninth.

Plate umpire Mooney Boswell excused reserve pitcher Howard Tepper from Alabama's dugout in the ninth inning for the manner in which he protested the umpire's call on a Reaves' pitch to Dover.

Pels Stymie Nashville, 2-1

NASHVILLE, Tenn., May 10 (AP)—New Orleans, in its first meeting with Nashville in a Southern Assn. contest this season, beat the Vols here tonight, 2-1.

Winner Bill Drummond went the distance but was in hot water most of the way. Nashville got runners on base in every inning except the second.

Nashville collected nine hits, none of them better than singles. Bob Meisner collected a double, one of six hits allowed the Pels by the Vols' two hurlers and the only extra base hit of the game.

Atlanta Crackers vs. Memphis Chicks

Jesse OUTLAR

★ Sports Editor ★

The Chief Umpire

Charlie Hurth is a controversial man around the Southern Assn., which is only natural when you consider he has been president of the circuit for 11 years.

In that span of time you leave scars which never heal with the public, such as the Dixie Walker case in Atlanta in 1951. Hurth still insists that, in suspending Walker for 90 days as a result of a forfeited game, he had no other choice under baseball law in effect at the time. No one pulled the trigger on Hurth any harder than the writer in that incident, and I still don't agree with him.

Outlar

He has had opportunities to move into greener pastures, but for reasons of his own, he has remained in the Southern. He won't admit it and some of his directors aren't aware of the fact, but I know that he was once offered the job as president of the Pacific Coast League.

At one time or another at least five of the league directors have remarked that the umpires were going to cost Hurth his job, but their tempers cooled when they reached the ballot box. When his present contract expires next year, he will have spent a dozen terms in the president's chair.

What kind of a man is Charlie Hurth? That's a complex question, for he is a complex man. Ordinarily he would make an ideal model for the man outlined by Dale Carnegie in his tome on friends and influence.

He is intelligent, blessed with an excellent personality. He is handsome and a neat dresser. Though he doesn't reach the boiling point too often, he boils over when he does. He is extremely stubborn. If it's possible to be conscientious and a politician, he is both. In dealing with baseball men, who often have peculiar views, it is necessary to be a politician. The fact that Hurth has been president of the league for 11 years provides proof that he is a politician.

—Does He Give Too Many Youths a Fling?

The majority of his directors consider Hurth a good executive. In general his ship has had smooth sailing, but his handling of umpires has resulted in infrequent typhoons.

His critics have charged the umpires are underpaid and consequently the staff is overloaded with rookies. Hurth refuses to comment on the salaries of his umpires. However, he does declare that money is no factor in his choice of rookies.

"I prefer a young, ambitious umpire to a man who has been knocking around different leagues," Hurth said here Thursday. "Naturally I like to keep the veteran umpires on my own staff, but the charges that I block their advancement to higher leagues are untrue.

"Look, it's this way," he continued. "In my job I'm actually the chief umpire, so it stands to reason that I'm going to get men as competent as possible. The better the umpires are, the easier any president's job is.

"You only have to make rulings on games, in which at least one team thinks an umpire made a mistake. When a case reaches my office, it's something that one of the umpires didn't handle satisfactorily, in the opinion of one of the managers.

"So don't let anyone tell you that I don't devote a lot of time and attention to my choice of umpires. I investigate them carefully after receiving recommendations from competent men.

—Eleven Years on Each Side of the Fence

"Why haven't more of my umpires moved up to higher classification? Frankly, I can't say. But I can name you several umpires now working in triple A, who were released for various reasons by the Southern Association. I think we replaced those men with better umpires, so it's a compliment to our league that they weren't good enough to work in our league, but moved up."

Hurth paused to light a cigarette and continued. "I've been in this game for 22 years . . . 11 on each side of the fence. I spent two years in the front office at Columbus, Ga., two more at Columbus, Ohio, and seven as general manager at New Orleans before succeeding Billy Evans. And don't think I didn't holler about umpires when I was on the other side."

In order to maintain order on the field, it is necessary for a league president to give his umpires solid backing. But in some incidences Hurth has carried the law too far. As I've told him several times, that's one of my pet peeves. There are two sides to a story, and the umpire isn't always right. He explains that he wasn't on the scene, and the umpire is his official agent, so he has to believe what the guy says.

Hurth has his own reasons for not airing his views on umpire pay in the Southern. He intimates that the scale is as high as the Texas League, but refuses to make a statement.

Personally I don't envy Charlie Hurth or any other league president. He's the only man in the league on the umpire's side, and everyone agrees that good umpires are hard to find.

"I just do the job to the best of my ability," Hurth says, "and that's all anyone can do."

Certainly that's true. For eleven years, Hurth's best has been good enough. Which leaves only one conclusion. He's either a good president, or the league directors have been mighty dumb.

Rained Out Crax Tackle Memphis

By AL THOMY

Records are many things to many people.

Some gain admittance to the Federal Pen on their records; politicians stand on theirs; the late Al Smith admonished voters to look at it; swimmers set a new one in every meet, and Elvis Presley is "all shook up" about his.

Donald E. Nottebart, 21, right-hander, 5-11, 170, most valuable player in Three-I League, most games completed (17), most wins (18), most innings pitched (209), best earned run average (2.24).

Impressive figures, yes. Impressive in spring training, no.

"There were several reasons Nottebart was not impressive during spring training," explained Bates Friday night, after his Crackers' game with league-leading Memphis was washed down the Poncey drains.

"First of all, we were working on a new curve ball for him. He won last year on his fastball and slider, and in fact, he's won this season on his fastball and slider, but I have always contended you need three pitches to win. And he was weak on the curve.

"Then, he suffered from a severe case of shin splints, and he couldn't push off the mound to be really effective. We had to take those things into consideration."

Back to the records. An 18-3 record in Class B at Evansville, 16 victories in succession, 209 innings pitched. How can you overlook them? Bates didn't.

The question was put to the Atlanta skipper. "If you had watched Nottebart in spring training, and had no idea of his past record, do you think he would have stuck?"

"I'd have to say no," replied Bates. "The truth is, he practically eliminated himself by his wildness. But I considered it partly my fault, as he was experimenting, and he was willing to learn. And there, of course, were the shin splints."

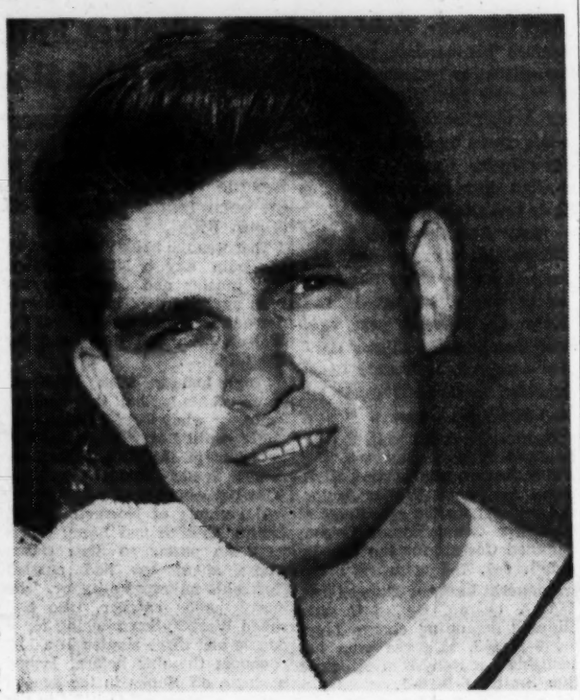

Only once this season has Nottebart been unable to hold the line in relief. That was in Mobile, when in a difficult no-out situation with the bases loaded, he gave up a single and a sac fly for three runs. Otherwise, he has been devastatingly effective.

He is now the No. 1 earned run average pitcher in the Southern Assn. with 1.32, seven runs in 34 innings on 25 hits. He has walked 20, struck out 16. The record stands 3-1, tops for the Crackers.

And all because it pays to . . . look at the records.

On Saturday night, at Ponce de Leon, the Crackers and Chicks try again in a 7:45 game. Pitching choices are the same, Earl Mossor (1-0) and Hy Cohen (3-0 in a right-handed battle.

The two clubs meet in a doubleheader Sunday afternoon.

Connie Yields Only Berra HR

BALTIMORE, May 10 (AP)—Lanky Connie Johnson of the Baltimore Orioles and Stone Mountain, Ga., pitched the New York Yankees into submission by a 4-1 score tonight for the third Yankee defeat in a row.

Only an eighth inning homer by catcher Yogi Berra averted New York's first shut out of the season in 20 games.

Johnson struck out eight, including pinchhitter Elston Howard for the final out of the game with Bob Richardson on first as the result of a walk.

The Orioles took a 1-0 lead with a run driven in by catcher Gus Triandos and gave Yankee pitcher Johnny Kucks the works in the fifth with three more.

Bill Gardner's second double, Bob Boyd's second of three singles and Tito Francona's second single were the main Oriole blows in the fifth when second baseman Billy Martin of the Yanks helped out with an error.

Phelps and Reynolds In State Golf Finals

Medalist, Defending Champ Clash in 36-Hole Title Round

By BERT PRATHER
Constitution Sports Writer

SAVANNAH, May 10—The stage was set for one of the finest finals in the 28-year history of the Georgia State Women's golf championship here Friday when the tournament medalist and defending champion advanced to Saturday's 36-hole title round.

The all-star finale came about when 21-year-old Janice Phelps of Atlanta's Capital City Country Club, tripped Mrs. Grady McDonald, the Atlanta City champion, 5 and 4, and Mrs. Robert (Mary Ann), Reynolds of Albany trimmed Savannah's last remaining threat, Mrs. Elliott Meddin, 4 and 3.

Both Mary Ann, whose 78 captured the medal by a single stroke, and Janice, who passed up the qualifying test, exercising her rights as defending queen, have played so consistently good over the Savannah Golf Club during the first four days of the tournament that there appears little to choose between them in the title tussle.

In Friday's semifinals, Miss Phelps and Mrs. Reynolds held the upper hand throughout.

Janice and Mrs. McDonald, finalist opponents in last year's state, matched pars through the first three holes. Then Mrs. McDonald placed her second in a trap, knocked her third over on the fringe taking five to Phelps' par four.

The defending champ knocked in a seven-foot putt for a birdie three on the fifth hole to go two-up.

Phelps pushed her margin to four-up by taking No. 8 with a bogie five and the ninth with a par five. On the latter hole, Mrs. McDonald took an eight.

Mrs. McDonald trailed by five when she overshot the green with her approach on 13 to take a bogie five. The string ran out as they halved the short 14th with fours.

After they halved the first hole with fives, Mrs. Reynolds won the next six in a row to place the match beyond Mrs. Meddin's reach.

The Savannahian steadied momentarily, however, to take eight and nine to be only four down at the turn. Mrs. Reynolds was out in 40. Phelps, incidentally, made the turn in 38.

—NO TIME FOR RAINOUTS—

LEDFORD KEPT TIDE AFLOAT IN GAME THEY HAD TO PLAY

By RALPH GREGORY

The rains came and stayed, but Tech and Alabama played on.

"We had to play on," both Tech Coach Joe Pittard and Alabama's Happy Campbell said afterwards.

"We only have a limited time to get this series over," Pittard said. "The umpires had to let it go on. Monday's the last possible date we can play it."

So the rains that began in the third inning of a key SEC playoff game and may not end until the rubber game has been delayed Saturday, was unpleasant to everybody, but to none more than Tech outfielder Earl Moore.

A "lost in the rain" fly to Moore in the ninth inning with one out let in the tying runs and set up the winning situation as Alabama took an 11-10 victory to square the three-game set.

"You can't blame Earl, though," dejected Pittard said later. "We sure wanted to win it, and that was a tough way to lose but all the elements were against him when he went for that ball."

Campbell, too, was sympathetic, though appreciative of the play.

"That ball was slicing, because it was hit by a right-hander (Pete Reaves). And that rain was beating Moore in the face."

To Campbell, the real key play was an eighth inning throw by pitcher Bobby Ledford, then employed in the outfield.

"That throw that cut down (Dick) Gookin kept Tech from going three ahead and gave us a chance in the ninth. And then Ledford came through with the hit that won the game."

Ledford, who started on the mound, moved to rightfield earlier in the inning when Tech started what proved to be a five-run rally. The sophomore, whose outfielding career began only four games ago, just before the playoff series opened, chipped in three hits, including the winner.

"He'll be in that outfield tomorrow, too," Campbell said. "With him in there, we've got three men who can go get 'em. And use that stick, too."

Campbell named Reaves, who came on in the ninth as a pinch-hitter, then stayed around to retire Tech in the ninth, to go to the mound Saturday, provided the weatherman doesn't postpone it.

Gainesville Ace Fans 19 In Title Win

Special to The Constitution

DULUTH, May 10—Lefty John Nuckolls fanned 19 batters, allowed only six hits and walked one in pitching Gainesville High's baseball team to a 12-inning, 3-2 victory over Smyrna Campbell here Friday to win the Region 4-AA championship.

Harry McCleskey, who lost the Wednesday opener to Nuckolls, 5-1, before the Smyrnans tied the series the next day with a 5-4 victory, dropped the rubber game even though he allowed only three safeties and whiffed 13. Ten walks and a hit batter that sent the winning run across the plate were his undoing.

Nuckolls, bespectacled junior who has an 8-0 record, hit three batters. He fanned four straight in the third and fourth innings and, starting in the sixth, whiffed nine straight.

The Panthers took a 1-0 lead in the first as Dusty Rhodes and Doug Beckett lived on errors. Rhodes took third after Ronnie Brown's flyout and scored on McCleskey's single. Brown made it 2-0 with a 340-foot leadoff homer in the fourth.

Healthy Willie Raps Sick Brooklyns, 2-1

Gomez Sparkler Stymies Bums; Maglie Is Loser

NEW YORK, May 10 (AP)—Willie Mays, just six hours out of the hospital, enjoyed a healthy night at the plate with two singles and a triple, driving in one run and scoring the other as the New York Giants defeated the Brooklyn Dodgers, 2-1, tonight.

The largest crowd of the Polo Grounds season — 34,435 paying customers — saw Ruben Gomez give perfect control pitching performance. The Puerto Rican right-hander yielded seven hits, walked none and struck out two to register his fourth victory against one defeat.

The Giants finally gained some measure of revenge on their old buddy, Sal Maglie, pelting their former teammate for six of their nine hits and scoring both runs off him before he was taken out for a pinch hitter in the fourth. Both runs came in the third, marking the first runs the Giants tallied against Maglie in 15 innings. The 40-year-old right-hander held them scoreless in two outings in 1956, covering 12 2-3 innings.

Whitey Lockman, playing in left field in place of the injured Hank Sauer, ignited the winning rally by beating out a bunt. Mays, who had a perfect night, walloped a 420-foot triple off the left-field wall, scoring Lockman. With two out, Don Mueller cracked the second of his two singles, scoring Mays.

PITTSBURGH, May 10 (AP)—Rookie Jack Sanford gave up only three hits tonight in pitching the Philadelphia Phillies to a 3-1 victory over the last-place Pittsburgh Pirates. Granny Hamner helped Sanford to his fourth consecutive win without a loss by blasting a solo home run in the third inning.

Hardcastle, Connerat Get Net Crowns

Bill Hardcastle, a senior who resigned his baseball job after two seasons as incumbent catcher for the North Fulton nine, Friday won the state Class AAA tennis crown by downing Northside's Buzzy Cowart, to whom he had lost in Atlanta's city finals two weeks ago.

Mary Ann Connerat, pretty Northside miss, gained revenge from Decatur's Pat Meyer to whom she lost in the state AA finals a year ago, and then bounced Athens' Barbara Dupree, 1956 state Class A titlist, in the 1957 finals for the girls' AAA crown.

Hardcastle, who polished off Lanier's Morrill Hay 6-3, 6-2, while Cowart was dusting Richmond Academy's Walter Anderson 6-3, 6-1, in the semifinals at the Bitsy Grant Tennis Center, trimmed Cowart for the title by a 5-7, 6-1, 7-5 count.

Connerat beat the Dupree lass, 4-AAA champ, 6-0, 6-4, after clipping defending champ Meyer, 6-2, 6-3. Dupree won her semifinals match from Albany's Sue Smith, 6-0, 6-1.

Gann, Madison Spur Northside to Crown

Wolves Fall in Playoff, 9-4, As Rick Rocks, Stan Slams

By CHARLIE ROBERTS

Northside High's baseballers threw cold water on Southwest High's hopes for a Western Division City League championship, and Jupiter Pluvius threw water on both teams and a be-slickered gathering of fans at Glenn Field.

That was the Friday story out on Mecaslin street, NW. Madison was master and Gann was the man again in the Tigers' 9-4 sudden-death playoff victory over the Wolves, who had tied them for the title.

Right-hander Rick Madison pumped his fog ball through the rain for what looked like a no-hitter until Larry Davis lashed a triple in the fifth inning, at which point coach Wayman Creel's people held a 9-0 lead.

The slants of Norman Banks, Jimmy Griffith and Larry Davis were no puzzle to Stan Gann, whose silent bat had puzzled Northside followers all year. The husky junior catcher, who had raked West Fulton pitching for a double and three singles in a 14-2 conquest the day before, lashed a single off Banks in the second inning, a triple off Griffith in the third and a single off Davis in the fifth.

All told, Gann, who was conked by a Banks' pitch on his first trip, has bashed seven safeties in his last seven official trips. He also pilfered his eighth base of the year.

Mike Thomas popped two singles, Madison, John Baker and Jimmy Adams a single each in the conquest. Madison, who fanned six and walked two in the rain, pitched a four-hitter, including a fluke double play by Griffith.

Gann scored twice and batted two runs across with his triple. Madison also sent two runs across. It just wasn't a fit day out for man nor Wolves.

Northside will open a three-game playoff with Fulton's Eastern Division champs on Tuesday, probably at Rose Bowl Field. Max Staples will hurl for Northside, Jimmy Daniel for Fulton as the schools begin their third such series for the title in as many years.

Only 11 Cars Qualify On Eve of '300' Race

DARLINGTON, S.C., May 10 (AP)—John Dodson, Oldsmobile driver from King, N.C., led today's Rebel 300 qualifiers at Darlington International Raceway with a four-lap average of 112.653 miles an hour.

Dodson's speed fell two and one-half miles short of Paul Goldsmith's record mark of 115.317 m.p.h. set yesterday.

Most drivers failed to meet inspectors specifications in time for the 4:30 p.m. deadline and will draw for starting positions in tomorrow's $20,000 event .

Among those denied a starting position thus far was Buck Baker, Charlotte, National Stock Car champion, whose motor was being warmed as qualifications ended.

Dick Beaty, Charlotte, Ford, 112.232; Bob Myers, Winston-Salem, N.C., Mercury, 112.054; Bob Welborn, Greensboro, N.C., Chevrolet, 111.719; Glen Wood, Stuart, Va., Ford, 111:392; Gwenn Staley, North Wiykesboro, N. S., Plymouth, 109.993; Possum Jones, Tampa, Fla., Chevrolet, 109.736; Ken Rush, High Point, N.C.; Mercury, 109.389; Jack Smith, Atlanta, Chevrolet, 109.283; Don Oldenburg, Highland, Ind., Plymouth, 107.925; Whitey Norman Winston-Salem, Ford, 106-514.

With 20 cars qualified race officials predicted another 10, including Baker, would be ready to start tomorrow.

Curtis Turner, Roanoke, Va., with the third starting position is the heavy favorite to win the event. Turner is expected to maintain a pace of 114 mph and average about 100 mph for the full 300 miles. Turner has won his last four starts in championship convertible racing.

Others who qualified yesterday in addition to Goldsmith and Turner were:

Joe Weatherly, Norfolk, Va.; Fireball Roberts, Daytona Beach, Fla.; Billy Myers, Germanton, N.C.; Marvin Panch, Gardena, Calif.; Tim Flock, Atlanta; Bill Amick, Charlotte, and Lee Petty, Randleman, N.C.

CLAIRMONT LITTLE LEAGUERS ARE READY FOR THE "PLAY BALL" CRY

Best-By-Track-Test Compete in All-Class

Nutting, Morrow, Howard Top Grady Field Today

The best-by-track-test from Georgia's high schools converge on Grady Stadium Saturday in the annual State All-Class Invitational Track and Field Meet.

Field events begin at 2 p.m., with running events one hour later.

The big prize for the top three athletes in each event is a trip to the Georgia-Alabama meet the night of May 18 at Birmingham's Legion Field.

Invitation to Georgia's All-Class meet is based on performance in the state meets of every class. The 1957 field has few who wrote new state records, but many who neared them.

Of the group, Northside's Ed Nutting and Benny Overstreet of Coffee County were the big noisemakers.

Nutting put a new shot put record of 57 feet, 10 3/8 inches in the state books, while Overstreet tied the 27-year-old 440 record with a 50.4. Both were Class AAA efforts.

Hopes of a dash duel between teammates Mont Miller and Tony Atkins of Richmond Academy are ruled out. Miller won't run in the All-Class affair.

The dash field is not a cut and dried affair though Carrollton claims its Jimmy Morrow is the best. Atkins, Blakely's Johnny Holman, and Northside's Charlie Howard all have matched or bettered Morrow's 10.3.

Nutting's shot throws apparently are out of reach, but Camilla's Danny Royal, Kenneth Rice of Bainbridge and Cairo's Dick Crane all have thrown more than 50 feet.

The hurdles, both high and low, could be a big thriller in the meet.

North Fulton's Tom Garden took the AAA highs, but a couple of AA hurdlers from Druid Hills, Jimmy Harpole and Stacy Burton, have been 1-2 all year in their league and these events rate a tossup.

While the 440 and mile relays are new events this season, several teams have turned in better than average times.

There will be six contestants in each of the running events and 12 in the field events.

Boone, Bisso Set Records

Dan Boone, who can thrust a javelin nearly as far as a Kentucky gentleman named Daniel Boone could fire a musket, turned in one of two record-breaking chores Friday in the Mid-South track and field meet here at Emory University.

Boone fired the javelin 173'7" to eclipse the former mark of 173' 3½" set by John Akers of Baylor in 1940.

Riverside's Gary Bisso chalked up the other record. He put the shot 51' 11¼". This surpassed the old standard of 50' 8¼" by Jim Healey of Baylor in 1954.

SUBURBS IN ACTION

ATLANTA'S LITTLE LEAGUERS OPEN PLAY IN 13 CIRCUITS

Atlanta area Little League teams kick off the 1957 season with a furious flurry of opening day ceremonies for 13 leagues over the weekend.

Only the Glenwood Hills leagues have already observed the opening day formalities and have reeled off two games of an 18-game schedule for both American and National Leagues. Glenwood got its program under way May 1 when Commissioner Walt Toney tossed out the opening ball after a parade.

The Decatur leagues were first to open the weekend activity. The National League staged a Friday night ceremony followed by a doubleheader. American League waits until Saturday night.

Tucker League plans a delayed opening Saturday with a Little League game at 6 p.m. when region representative Rufus Barnett throws out the first pitch.

North DeKalb League opens with a doubleheader Saturday afternoon at 1 p.m. when Mayor Ed Heiber of Doraville and Mayor Woody Malone of Chamblee will be on hand. Actual league play started Monday.

Belvedere League opens Saturday with a triple-header at Belvedere Park beginning at 12:30. Opening day ceremonies won't be held until later, however.

Sandy Springs, a new entry in the region play, will hold a parade and exhibition Saturday but league play won't begin until Monday.

Claremont will have Cracker manager Buddy Bates and some of his players on hand to help in launching the season Saturday at Thomson School at 2 p.m.

Buckhead's two leagues wait until Monday when a parade and ceremonies at Bagley Park open an 18-game schedule for both the American and National Leagues. Bobby Dodd, Georgia Tech head coach, will speak to the team members Sunday night at Sardis Church.

DeKalb Memorial also kicks off Saturday.

Tulane Netters Lead LSU And Florida Into Finals

Aguero Defeats Hopkins, Nichols; Waters Upsets Tech's Paul Metz

BATON ROUGE, May 10 (AP)—Defending champion Tulane edged ahead of Louisiana State University and Florida today in a three-cornered race for the Southeastern Conference tennis title.

After two days, Tulane scored 22 points while Florida and LSU each had 21.

However, Tulane, seeking its seventh straight title and 15th in 19 SEC tournaments, advanced five men into the singles finals, while Florida had four singles finalists and LSU three. No other school placed a man in the singles finals.

Tulane's Jose Aguero, defending number one singles champion, breezed into the finals without losing a game. The former Brazilian Davis Cup player and 1955 National Collegiate champion whipped Robert Nichols of Georgia Tech and Lindsey Hopkins of Georgia, both by 6-0, 6-0 scores.

Ron Holmberg, Crawford Henry, Carl Goodman and Lester Sack also marched into the number two, three, four and five singles finals for Tulane with difficulty.

Florida's Dick Leslie downed Kenny Carter of LSU 7-5, 9-7 in the number one singles to win the right to meet Aguero in tomorrow's finals.

Other Florida finalists include Dave Shaw in number four singles, Dan Guzman-Perry in number five and Hugh Waters in the number six bracket.

Waters upset topseeded Paul Metz of Georgia Tech 2-6, 6-3, 6-4 to advance into the finals against LSU's Buddy Gomez.

Other LSU finalists include Ronnie Fenasci in number two and Tom Robinson in number three.

LSU took a brief lead early in the day when all six Tiger singles entries won their way into the semifinals, but dropped behind by losing three of six semifinals matches.

Ortega Slips Past Logart

SYRACUSE, N. Y., May 10 (AP)—Tireless Gaspar Ortega of Mexico finished strong tonight to gain a split decision over Cuba's Isaac Logart in a fierce 12-round battle between leading welterweight contenders. Ortega, a 2-1 underdog, weighed 147, Logart 146.

The tall, rangy 21-year old Mexican had the small crowd of about 2,000 rooting for him from the second round on after he had been hit low and dropped to one knee in pain. Logart's low left came seconds after Ortega had staggered his shorter rival with three rights to the jaw.

REPORT FROM OUTDOORS

By JIM CARSON
Constitution Sports Writer

ST. MARKS, Fla., May 10—Out-of-state fishermen are literally hooking the big ones from under the noses of their Florida hosts in this year's St. Marks Fishing Rodeo.

Jim Carson

Of the five species counted in the contest, which closes July 4, four of the biggest to date have been turned in by out-of-staters and two of them are Georgians.

An Atlantan, D. L. Blankenship, took a 53½-pound cobia that should give followers plenty to cast for. This big sea fish was 4-feet, 8 inches long.

A Whitesburg, Ga., man, H. J. Jones, registered his 4-pound, 8-ounce Spanish mackerel. It not only leads in this year's contest, but was labeled by Jones as "the biggest one I've seen in the 25 years I've fished here."

Other leaders include H. B. Londress, Chattanooga, Tenn., a 22-pound grouper; Herbert Cotter, Maryville, Tenn., 20-pound, 8-ounce king mackerel, and Block Smith, Tallahassee, 4-pound, 4-ounce speckled trout.

WET LINES — A party of Atlantans watched Willis Moore Jr. take "big fish" honors with a 12-pound grouper. They included Dr. Julian T. Pipkin, Harold Kilpatrick, Harry P. Wootan Sr., Sunday School secretary of the Atlanta Baptist Assn., and his son, the Rev. Harry P. Jr., pastor of The Rock Baptist Church of Rex, Ga. . . . Other Georgians: C. H. Bass (Albany), Luther Simmons (Albany), Kearney Moore (Atlanta), L. D. Almond (Atlanta). . . . Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie King (Forest Park) and J. D. Bishop (McDonough) brought in 215 pounds of grouper, excepting four king mackerels. . . . What a Day's Catch: W. L. Stanley (Atlanta) and a dozen employes of the John Harland Co. hooked 120 grouper, estimated weight 750 pounds. They were on the Lucky Lady out of the Riverside Camp. . . . Swift Co. employes, all Atlantans: G. H. Austin, C. W. Helms, John Kitchens, George McWilliams, Logan Garrett, Butch Cowert, Jans Helms, Jack J. Corsey, Ted Bassett and Fred Smith totaled 150 pounds in "bottom" fish.

HOW DO YOU COOK 'EM?—Nick Gonotas and Pete Sarodis, two genial Greeks in this historic Spanish stronghold, have all the answers on preparing fresh and salt-water fish. . . . You Don't Fish if You Live Here: St. Marks residents like E. W. Roberts, Bud Martin and L. W. Myers never have the time to fish. They are so busy taking care of guests they have to wait until winter, then they go hunting. . . . On the Menu at St. Marks: Most fishermen take in deep-sea fishing one day, then go out on the flats for speckled trout the next. Stay three days and there's more fishing upstream on both the St. Marks and Wakula rivers.

OFF THE HOOK—Historians say a British naval officer married a Creek squaw, became an Indian leader and King of Florida. Spanish reported executing him, but he returned here in 1789 and became a pirate operating out of the St. Marks River.

Georgia Alumni Top Tech Golfers

Russell Clinches 4-AAA Crown, 5-4

By CHARLIE DARRING

Russell High's Wildcats clinched the Region 4-AAA South baseball championship Friday at South Park by handing Marist a 5-4 defeat behind the seven-hit pitching of southpaw Al Phillips, with a mite of final-inning aid from Jack Beckham.

As it turned out, Coach Larry Dodd's East Pointers didn't need this ninth victory in 10 starts to sew up the crown because Athens trimmed Griffin's invading defending champions, 8-7, to knock the Eagles from contention.

4-AAA SOUTH FINAL STANDINGS	W	L		W	L
Russell	7	1	SW DeKalb	4	6
Griffin	5	3	Athens	4	6
Marist	4	6	Decatur	2	8

Lefty Phillips struck out nine Marist batters in taking the victory that throws the East Pointers against Dalton's North champs in a three-game playoff series next week, time and site still undecided. Luckless Charlie Rhino limited the champs to only four hits.

Doherty, leading Marist swatter with two hits, singled again, advanced on a fielder's choice. Carman doubled with Doherty holding on at third. Lloyd Sutter then blasted a three-run homer to put the Cadets back in business.

Dodd summoned to the bullpen for ace righthander Beckham, and the Cadets were out of business. The 6-5 junior fanned Charlie Hill and got Mike Smith on a grounder to end the day's action and start the Wildcats looking for Dalton timetables.

SINGER INSPECTS CUB SCOUT'S BADGE HERE

Record Roundup

Atlanta Youths Hail 'Tennessee Plow Boy'

By BETTY CARROLLTON

Eddy Arnold, the Tennessee warbler who parlayed a mail-order guitar and four music lessons at 75 cents each, into one of the music world's most fabulous careers, turned on his warmth and charm to make a welcoming committee forget darkening skies.

On hand to greet the good will ambassador of the music world and the SSS Co., sponsors of his television show, were representatives of three Boy Scout troops, whose invitation Eddy has accepted to be a special guest at Saturday's Scoutorama.

ALWAYS SELLS

First stop after the airport for the personable, unassuming singer, who's "never made a record that didn't sell," was Atlanta's Cerebral Palsy School, where he delighted youngsters with a technique all his own.

Eddy has always loved country music. When he was growing up and working in the fields ("I always hated three things about farming," he recalled: "Chopping cotton, picking cotton and plowing with a stubborn mule") he daydreamed about being a singer.

"It was always my ambition to make one record," he said. "I just wanted to be able to take it home and listen to it."

And the company he always wanted to make the record for was Victor, now RCA-Victor. He cut his first record for that firm 12 years ago, and he's been with it ever since. Eddy admitted that he's "never made a record that didn't sell." At least six sold over a million copies.

SEVERE CRITIC

"I can always count on her for an honest opinion," he said. "But she's never picked a hit for me. If Sally doesn't like the record, it usually sells."

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold are among their community's top civic workers. Eddy has a special interest in scouting. His daughter, Jo Ann, 11, is a member of the Girl Scouts ("Right now, she's all excited about going to camp this summer") and his son, Dickie, 8, is counting the days until he is old enough to join a cub pack. Eddy is a member of the executive board of the Boy Scouts of America and the Middle Tennessee Scout Council.

Known primarily as a country singer, Eddy is a versatile performer who "likes music of all kinds." His newly released album, "A Little on the Lonely Side," which he terms "mood music," features such tunes as "That Old Feeling," "It Had to Be You," "You'll Never Know," and "September Song."

SMOOTH STYLE

Arnold fans who kept records such as "Bouquet of Roses," "Anytime," "I'll Hold You in My Heart," and "Molly Darling" on best seller charts for month after month, will welcome Eddy's smooth style in the album.

At least one member of the Arnold household is "parroting" the singer who last year was voted the nation's No. 1 recording artist:

"He hasn't made much progress yet," Eddy chuckled, "but I think he can do it eventually."

With "Round and Round" still getting plenty of spins on turntables throughout the nation, Mr. Smoothie, Perry Como, has come up with another sure hit in "The Girl With the Golden Braids" . . . lots of Como fans, however, prefer the flip tune, "My Little Baby."

Thrushes Gale Storm and Bonnie Guitar are running neck and neck in the disc derby with their renditions of "Dark Moon" . . . Vaughn Monroe has waxed a haunting hit, "The Ride Back" . . . Tommy Sands' hit, "Goin' Steady" and "Ring My Phone," from his album, "Steady Date," are now available as singles.

Tommy Leonetti, who became an overnight favorite of Southern teen-agers (he's been making the rounds at youth rallies in several Southern states lately), is getting good response to his latest recording, "Look at 'Er," with "The Other Man" as the flip tune. . . . Latest release by the fabulous Fats Domino is "Valley of Tears," backed with "It's You I Love."

Harry Belafonte, whose latest album is still a top pop seller, is at his best in a new calypso classic, "Coconut Woman," a tribute to a female coconut vendor. "Island in the Sun," from the new movie, is the other tune on the platter. . . . Fans of Ferlin Husky, the warbler who parlayed "Gone" into the hit category, will be glad to learn he will appear on several national TV programs during the next few weeks.

Career Aid Object of Clinic Series

A series of eight three-day career clinics, with programs of testing, counseling and group discussions are scheduled at the institution during June, July and August. Co-directors are Dr. J. A. Davis and Dr. Richard A. Goodling of Emory's testing and guidance service.

Sponsored by Emory and the Commissions of Christian Vocations of the North and South Georgia Annual Conference, the clinics will be open to all teen-agers.

Object of the clinics, Dr. Goodling pointed out, is "to provide students with data about their own abilities, and give them up-to-date information on vocational opportunities."

Testing will include measures of interests, aptitudes, and achievement, and a personality inventory. Each participant will spend an hour with a counselor for interpretation of test results. Discussion sessions, worship services, and recreational activity will be part of the programs.

Dates are: June 6-8, June 20-22, July 8-10, for 1957 high school graduates; June 13-15, June 24-26, July 25-27, August 1-3, for 1958 high school graduates.

SCRIPT GETS LAST MINUTE CHECK BEFORE "HIGH TIME" TELECAST

Frank Cooper, Russell; Diane Cunningham, Northside, Compare Notes

'High Time' Geared To Teen Interests

A group of Atlanta youths who decided it was "high time" they brought their story to the public, has received national acclaim.

Through what was to them a new medium, these young people have brought the wholesome interests of teen-agers into the homes of Georgians each Saturday afternoon.

Organized last fall under the guidance of three representatives of their sponsoring company, the local television station, JTE set up an hour-long telecast with variety as the format.

Determined to succeed in all phases, including financial, students sell advertising time to other JA companies in the Atlanta area. Commercials are written and delivered by the youths.

The format of the show provides flexibility in programming. In essence, High Time is a variety entertainment show geared to the interests of teen-agers. Those interests range from classical music to rock 'n' roll; from fashions and the latest dance steps to sports stars and individual talent. A featured attraction on several shows has been filmed tours of local high schools. The movies were produced and filmed by the Junior Achievers.

SOME "FLUBS"

Admittedly, things don't always run an even course during the live telecasts. One student recalled an early program when "we forgot" about the mike technique, resulting in several minutes of silence on a couple of occasions ("and they were such LONG minutes," the student moaned.)

During a fashion sequence on one program, the teen-age moderator found herself describing one outfit, with the camera focused on another one all the while. ("Talk about embarrassing moments!" she recalled.) But, in the spirit of true showmanship, the moderator's quips merited praise from viewers.

From the first, company officials pointed out, response was "very good." As the youths became accustomed to the gigantic job they had undertaken, the program took on a professional polish. At least one television rating (Neilson) gave High Time top spot among the 2-3 p.m. Saturday programs. Subsequent ratings estimated the viewing audience to be in excess of 40,000, with nearly half of those adults.

During March and April, High Time featured special themes which turned out to be the most effective single effort of the company. One was an all-Western show, with the teens dressed in the garb of the Old West and spotlighting typical Western entertainment. Another popular production was the "Gay Nineties" program.

The final show of the season is scheduled for Saturday afternoon.

Jack Sawyer, WLW-A consultant for the program, producer Ivars Stelmachers, O'Keefe student, and handsome, personable Owen Forrester, Northside student who emcees the program, have won praise from numerous prominent citizens.

Three company members have won college scholarships for their JA activities: Diane Cunningham, Northside, writer and announcer, has been awarded the Katharine Cornell scholarship for promising theatrical talent; Owen, who is president of the company as well as program emcee, and Joan Piper, Decatur, copy writers, have won Horace Moses national scholarships.

ESCAPED COMMUNISTS

One of the most enthusiastic members is the show's likable producer Stelmachers, who has known life in a country where opportunities were rare.

Born in Riga, Latvia, much of Ivars' early life was spent "shuffling from one refugee camp to another." Ivars was 5 years old when his country was seized by Communists and his family escaped to Germany. After World War II, they lived in refugee camps in the English Zone of that occupied country. They came to Atlanta in 1952, under the sponsorship of Mrs. R. L. Roberts.

Ivars summed up his JA experience:

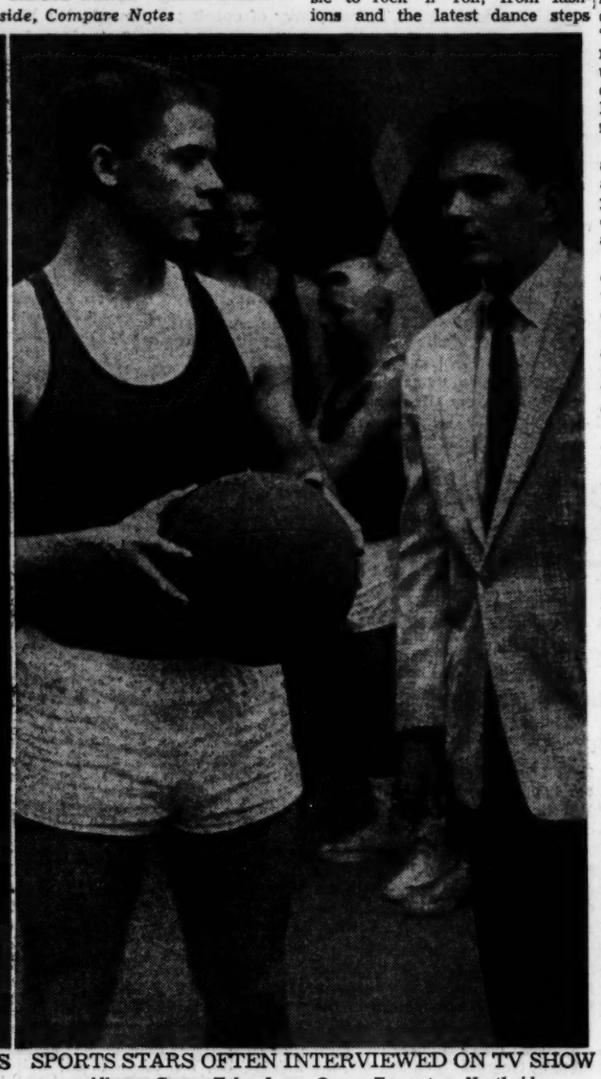

"It has given me a chance to see for myself how American business operates and to learn first-hand about some of the opportunities teen-agers have in America to make something of themselves.

"It's a wonderful thing."

'Not Boors,' Boys Declare

Boys who wrote The Constitution this week hold to the theory that a boorish tendency among young men is nonsense. But dozens of Georgia girls fear that chivalry is dead as far as the 1957 teen-age boy is concerned.

The winning letter on the subject was written by John Currie, 18, a 12th grade student at Forest Park High School. He wrote:

If chivalry is dead, the ladies have certainly killed it. Like most boys, I like to open doors and such for ladies, but I certainly expect at least a "thank you" in return. But too many girls seem to think it's our duty to extend such courtesies.

I am a senior in high school and I, like my classmates, am very busy making plans for the future. I plan to go into professional Christian service. Some of my friends will study to become engineers, others will be social works, doctors, scientists. Does that sound boorish?

We feel that since we will literally inherit the world, as young people, we must prepare ourselves for the task which lies ahead.

It is true that we prefer football to Shakespear, rock 'n' roll to symphony music, and hot rods to politics, but that's all a part of growing up.

So therefore, I don't think we should be expected to act like something we "ain't." That would be hypocritical.

Harrison Alley of Clarkesville, 11th grade student at North Habersham High School, pointed out that there is today, and perhaps always has been, a widespread misconception that boys are boors. Certainly this is a gross error, he continued, adding the word boor can be defined as ill-mannered, rude, clownish. . . . If we trace this misconception to it's source, we might discover that some boys have not learned the word maturity.

Harrison believes that just because a minority of boys take the limelight and show off, this creates a tendency to condemn all boys. Loud, boisterous laughter, harsh words, rudeness and inconsideration are by no means a key to happiness or success. Too often, these big wheels are all rim and no hub, but they do get around, even if they go in circles.

No! Boys are not becoming boors.

Harrison added a word to the girls:

Remember, no matter how careful we boys are, we are going to be guilty of some social and personal lapses in our actions. But so are the girls!

Judy Foster, a 13-year-old 8th grade student at Druid Hills High School, thinks today's boys act as if there is nothing more . . . to living then playing baseball, football and other sports. They must be trying to build up muscles to . . . impress teen-age girls.

W. F. Carmichael Jr., 18, L. J. Price senior, thinks it is rather absurd to feel today's boys are boors. He continued: . . . public opinion controls folkways. Consequently boys' attitudes are based upon public opinion.

Of course, he admitted, there are some boys who are boors, but these are in the minority. The majority are . . . responsible young men that take their places in the church, home, school and community. As for chivalry, which I would define as the extremity of mannerism, I am grateful it has decease . . . since it was based on formality instead of sincerity.

What's Wrong With Teen-age Girls?

What's wrong with today's high school girls?

Speak up, boys—and girls! What is your main complaint about teen-age girls? Do they concentrate too much on physical beauty and not enough on personality? What desirable qualities do you find most lacking in them?

The Constitution will pay a cash award of $10 for the best letter on this subject, written by a high school student. Additional awards of $1 will be paid for each letter published.

Letters should not exceed 200 words and must be postmarked by midnight Tuesday, May 14. Address entries to Young Ideas Editor, Atlanta Constitution. Include name, age, address, school and grade.

Atlanta CAP Leader Wins France Trip

Personable James Edward Carlton, 17, an outstanding junior at Brown High School, will put his French lessons to use when he journeys to Europe with the Civil Air Patrol.

Edward, cadet commander of the CAP, is one of three Georgia youths selected for a three-week trip to foreign lands in July to tour airports and "be checked out" in foreign airplanes. They were chosen from among 36,000 cadets in the U.S. Edward will visit France; Warren E. English, of Albany, will journey to Norway, and David E. McRae, Decatur, will visit Canada.

Edward, who has an eye on the Air Academy when he graduates from high school, said his CAP assignment "is just about the best thing that could happen."

An "A" student, he has been a member of the CAP for four years, and takes his duties as cadet commander as seriously as any military man. Naturally, he prefers flying over all the other CAP activities, and has logged more than 20 flight hours. He also enjoys workouts with the drill team, and weekend encampments at Lake Jackson.

Oriental May Day Planned at Scott

By ELIZABETH MORGAN

A soft, fluffy white mouse will star in the annual May Day celebration at Agnes Scott Saturday when the May Day Dell becomes a scene from old Japan.

The star actually is not a mouse, but Miss Emiko Takeuchi of Yokohama, Japan, a senior student at Scott. This year the college's traditional May Day celebration is based on an old Japanese folk tale from the collection of Yuri Yasuda.

Called "Mezumi No Yomeiri" (The Marriage of a Mouse), the pageant tells the poignant story of Maki, the delicate white mouse whose parents take her to the courts of the sun, cloud and wind in search of the most important husband in Japan.

Maki finally finds a suitable husband who is Chusuke, another mouse, and her parents learn a lesson in realistic values.

COLORFUL GUIDANCE

The expected audience of 750 residents of Decatur and Atlanta will have colorful guidance in getting absorbed in the graceful pageant. Forty students have composed the dances which tell the legend. Directed by Miss Eugenie Dozier of the physical education department and student dance chairman Nancy Trowell, girls dressed airily as sunbeams, clouds and winds dance at the courts.

Curiously enough, an American student is responsible for this first oriental May Day held at the college. Miss Nancy Kimmel of Atlanta, a junior majoring in English, got the idea when she went on a shopping tour of Tokyo. There, in a book shop, she found the legend that led to this celebration of 1957. Her script was chosen from 10 entries by the 12-member student May Day committee and its three faculty advisers. Miss Jene Sharp is chairman of the committee.

Miss Cemele Miller, May Queen from Monroe, and Miss Suzella Burns of Knoxville, Tenn., her maid of honor, will reign at the celebration which begins at 5 p.m.

KOREAN OFFICERS

Miss Takeuchi is responsible for much of the music in the show. The Japanese scores that she obtained are blended with the music of European composers. A 12-piece student orchestra directed by John Adams accompanies the dancing.

The audience will display some Oriental flavor, too, in the persons of 71 Korean officers in training at Ft. Benning. Hae Chun Chung, a Korean student at Columbia Theological Seminary, told his friends at Benning about the festival, and they asked to come.

This folk tale is a bright example of the rich, symbolic and beautiful lore of Japan. A legend of marriage easily is incorporated into a May Day festival, for the festival itself "brings home the May" . . . new life . . . the spring.

FOLK CUSTOMES

At one time, according to references on folk customs, some sort of marriage pageant was acted out in May Day celebrations around the world. Scholars say this ceremony not only symbolized new life, but to ancient folk was the marriage of spring and vegetation.

And the custom — still practiced in some parts of the United States—of carrying flowers and green branches from door to door traditionally is supposed to bestow and share creative power. The tradition can be extended to the Agnes Scott students who are sharing their talents with the public.

Tobe Says

Plunging Backs New for Summer

The dramatic new variation on the bare top theme this summer is the plunging backline. Yes, it really plunges almost to the waistline in back. Of course this means that the neckline must either start fairly high in front or follow exactly the decolletage of the backless bras that have made it possible to wear these plunging backlines.

I for one find it not only enormously chic, but very intriguing after the completely bare strapless tops of the last few years. You'll find plunging backlines running through everything from swimsuits to evening gowns.

Club To Meet Today

The Greater Atlanta chapter of the Georgia Rose Society will meet Saturday, May 11, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Johnston on Mt. Vernon drive in Decatur.

These Twins Pursued Individuality But Their Paths Led to a Merger

By RAYMONDE ALEXANDER

An advertising gimmick came to life in Atlanta—and gave double vision to everyone within eye-shot.

How it all happened is a tale of fight for individuality that wound up in a merger.

Heroes of the tale are Louis Paul and Paul Louis Guilmette—twins as identical as two people can be.

So rather than go on fighting for separate prestige, they decided to pool their talents—after all two faces are better than one when you're setting out to prove the dual value of a product you wish to sell.

FACES ARE THEIR FORTUNES, SAY GUILMETTES
Twins Paul and Louis Team as Sales Ambassadors

And that was the idea they hit upon. So now they are ambassadors for a famous fabric house. They do a selling job from the printed page to the consumer through the manufacturer and retailer.

In doing this, they sparkle with personality, getting off laugh after laugh, and you are likely to see them as circus riders or as vaudeville hoofers.

In paying Atlanta a three-day visit, they will climax their shenanigans as judges in a contest to find Atlanta's most-look-alike twins. Atlantans 14 and under will compete on the sixth floor at Davison's at 3 p.m. Saturday.

Born in New Hampshire, 32 years ago, Paul and Louis went to different colleges in search of separate identities — Paul went to Holy Cross, the University of Mexico and the University of Maine, while Louis attended Providence College and the University of Maine.

ADVERTISING

Both chose advertising and sales promotion as a profession and thus the merging of talents was inevitable.

There are days, they say, when they would rather drop into the nearest manhole than face another day as twins.

As alike as they look, their likes are as different as black and white. "Louis is a terrific sailor," said Paul, "while I am strong for golf and tennis." Paul also is a pretty good reader.

Louis said that he reads only after Paul has paid for the books.

"MOST ELIGIBLE"

Both are bachelors — "the most eligible bachelors in New York," to quote a statement made in unison and they're "dying to get married."

Paul is decided on the type girl he prefers—she should be petite, very feminine and Dresden-like. Louis likes them all—his problem is making up his mind. Both agree that the South has pretty women.

In case you think marriage to them might be confusing, there is a small clue as to which is which—Paul ties his shoes with a vertical bow; Louis ties his with a horizontal bow. If they have their shoes off, you're on your own.

Kelley Will Add a Sleuth To Keep Pressure on Bug

By RICHARD ASHWORTH

Fulton Criminal Solicitor John I. Kelley said Friday he will add another investigator to his staff soon to keep the pressure on lottery and whisky operators.

Kelley, whose investigators, with the aid of federal agents, made the March 27 lottery raid on Horace Ingram's garage, setting off the alleged intimations of police protection, declared he feels he can "do a fairly good job" with four investigators.

In other developments on the lottery situation:

Police Chief Herbert T. Jenkins said all the back pay and allowances due them has been paid to the eight police officers who were restored to duty Thursday after being suspended in the lottery probe.

HOLDING CHECKS

Jenkins said he is still holding checks due three other officers who were indicted on bribery charges early in the probe. The chief asserted he will not turn the checks over to the men until he has a ruling from city attorney Jack Savage and the Aldermanic Board Police Committee has finally decided their status.

The Fulton grand jury, which is continuing the lottery investigation begun by the last jury, will look into sales of mixed drinks and State Revenue Commissioner T. V. Williams' "illegal liquor fund," foreman S. L. Brooks hinted Friday.

Although he would not comment specifically, Brooks said the jury will "go into everything as far as possible" that was included in the charge from Superior Court Judge George P. Whitman Sr. Brooks earlier had said the jury "definitely will tackle" the lottery probe.

LICENSE A "SUBTERFUGE"

Judge Whitman said in his charge that Atlanta's $1,000 wine-pouring licenses are a "subterfuge" under which mixed drinks are sold. He also urged the jury to do a "cleanup" job on lottery and quoted a newspaper editorial which called for the probe of the liquor fund.

Kelley disclosed that lottery charges against Ingram and others arrested in the raid will not be scheduled for trial until after federal cases against the defendants are tried. Kelley said this was necessary because documentary evidence for the case is in custody of federal authorities.

Ingram's state trial on bribery charges is scheduled to begin June 4 in Fulton Superior Court. Judge Luther Alverson is scheduled to hear a motion June 3 from Ingram that the case be tried in another county. Judge Alverson said the plea apparently will be based on allegations of excessive publicity here.

The Northside Atlanta Kiwanis Club of which Chief Jenkins is a member adopted a resolution Friday giving the police chief a "vote of confidence" for his "outstanding reputation among his follow members as a decent and upright citizen, and an honest and efficient chief of police."

RAIDING EQUIPMENT

In other comments on the lottery situation, Kelly also said his office has for some time needed "raiding" equipment to carry on a campaign against lottery and whisky. The recent grand jury recommended Kelley be given the equipment because he now has to borrow it from federal authorities.

The solicitor said the equipment principally includes automobile police radios and "walkie-talkies." Kelly said his men are often in "dangerous" situations while observing illegal operations because they could not call for help if they needed it.

Under questioning from reporters, Kelly said he feels the current lottery probe is helpful in rooting out vice. But he added, "Unfortunately, it is seldom that these efforts to drive vice out succeed 100 per cent."

"You've got to be eternally vigilant about it. We will always have people interested in the fast buck," he added. "It's like keeping your yard clean—you've got to keep mowing and pruning."

Kelly said the lottery probe has had a "lot of obstacles in its path." But he declared he has "an abiding faith that truth will reveal itself if we keep working."

"One of the world's richest and most married women has lavished fortunes on several husbands whose tenure in matrimony was brief indeed."—Editorial quote.

There was a man who struggled hard . . . for fame and wealth, with no regard . . . for anybody on this earth . . . and it was said that he was worth . . . almost as much as Henry Ford . . . and yet despite the wealth he'd stored . . . away, he had but little fun . . . and was disliked by everyone . . . except his wife and she, no doubt . . . considered him a stingy lout.

He was respected for his wealth . . . but no one asked about his health . . . what he had done, where he had been . . . or other little things which men . . . who like to meet on common ground . . . bring up and idly "kick around."

Now, money is delightful stuff . . . and most of us would like enough . . . to feel secure from want or debt . . . but in the getting some forget . . . they may come to a sudden end . . . and that without a single friend . . . a single friend, because his wife . . . who doesn't like the single life . . . goes out, as soon as he has gone . . . and finds some tramp to spend it on.

Your Stars Today

Daily Guide — Beware of self-indulgence today, or of joining with others who may not be discreet. There is the possibility of associating with the wrong people. Unfavorable publicity can result for those born around the 20th of May, August, November, or 17th of February.

The moon in Libra gives emphasis to personal relationships and the desire to seek pleasant companionship and artistic surroundings. Be diplomatic and cooperative.

If you have a favor to ask, or an important contact could prove profitable, schedule it for tomorrow, before the evening hours.

Happy Birthday, Taurus! The breaking of some of your ties with the past may upset you since you are the type that resents being pried from your comfortable spot.

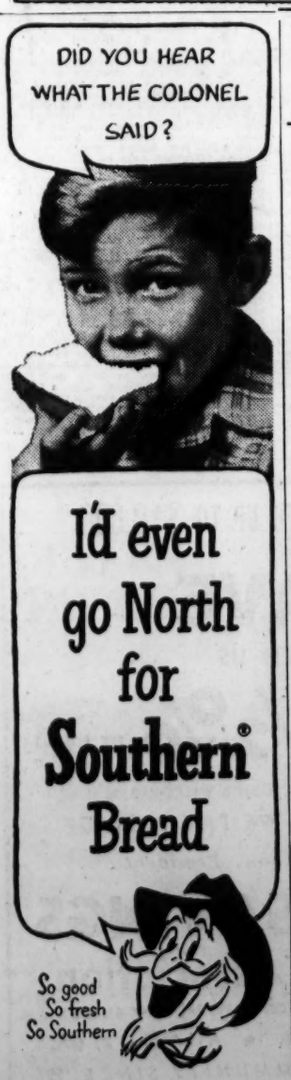

There are many new situations ahead for you so be ready to adjust yourself and make progress through the opportunities which will open up suddenly from time to time.

If you procrastinate, as Taureans can do, you may then be pushed out of your way of life with no other one to turn to successfully.

Develop your gifts, your social contacts, and improve working conditions and health. Keep a skeptical eye out for a little double-dealing in your personal relationships.

Grains Ease After Climb

CHICAGO, May 10 (AP)—Most grain futures eased slightly on the Board of Trade today after climbing fractionally higher at the start of trading.

Of the bread grains, only May wheat was higher at the close, up ⅞ from yesterday's final prices. All other old and new style wheat futures finished unchanged or fractionally lower.

Corn was steady, influenced by wet weather which again held up planting of new crops.

Wheat opened higher but eased later on news that the house appropriations committee had sliced an additional 235 million dollars from the agriculture department's request for soil bank funds.

List Forges Ahead Into High Ground

Industrials, Blue Chips Lead Tape to 2nd Straight Record

NEW YORK, May 10 (AP)—Industrials and assorted blue chips led the stock market further into new high ground for 1957 today. The advance was a narrow one but it established for the second straight day a new high in the average.

The market's rise today was surprising in some Wall Street quarters which expected a slight retreat and consolidation after penetration of the old high set on Jan. 4.

Additional reason for surprise was the fact that preweekend sessions are usually cautious ones when traders and speculators pull in their horns to avoid the hazards of bad news on Saturday and Sunday.

CAUTIOUS MOOD

In the early part of the session this cautious mood seemed to prevail. After a brisk opening, turnover became very quiet and prices were narrowly irregular. Only the oils seemed to show consistent improvement. As the session progressed the oils bettered their gains and at the same time the so-called pivotal issues remained firm.

With the market in a vulnerable area where considerable selling was anticipated, this steadiness was apparently attractive to institutional investors who began to come into the market with good orders, Wall Street sources said.

The end result was some unexpected strength by a number of blue chips which have been neglected lately. But it was the industrials as a group which bore the burden of the advance, making up for their softness near the close yesterday when other divisions of the market carried the ball.

AMERICAN EXCHANGE

On the American Stock Exchange prices were irregular. The gainers included Bunker Hill, Imperial Oil and Shattuck Denn. Among the losers were Catalin, Flying Tiger and Molybdenum.

Corporate bonds were lower in slow trading.

Cotton Sags On Funds Cut

The market was unsettled by developments from Washington affecting the farm program. The House Appropriations Committee cut the funds requested by the Agriculture department for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

The market later improved partially as short covering and trade buying were attracted by the reaction.

Under the 1957 soil bank program, some 3,000,000 cotton acres have been signed up for retirement from production, according to the latest available report. Meanwhile, the trade and commission houses continued to liquidate holdings in neareby May futures, anticipating expiration of trading in that futures month on Tuesday.

Dixie Nonfarm Jobs Hit 6,700,000 March Record

Rise Is 8,600 Over February; Georgia Lags in Year's Gain

By BOB WILLIMON

Nonfarm employment in the eight-state Southeast reached a new March record level of 6,700,000—up 8,600 workers over February and 147,000 ahead of the year-ago figure.

Georgia, however, didn't do as well as the Southeast as a whole in the gains department over the 12-month period.

While the region racked up 2.3 per cent gain in total nonagricultural employment, Georgia's advance was nine-tenths of 1 per cent.

And, in regard to manufacturing employment, the Southeast gained two-tenths of 1 per cent more workers during the year while Georgia lost eight-tenths of 1 per cent.

UNDER DECLINE

Contributions to Georgia's manufacturing employment losses in recent months have been declines in lumber and wood products, furniture and fixtures and textiles, according to Brunswick A. Bagdon, regional director of the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics.

Bagdon's remarks came in response to inquiries about his monthly report on nonfarm employment. The report also applies to Virginia, Alabama, Tennessee, Florida, Mississippi and the Carolinas.

Manufacturing industries were hardest hit in March as compared to February insofar as the region is concerned. Losses totaling 5,500 factory workers involved every state except Tennessee and Alabama.

FIRE DESTRUCTION

Desite the overall nonfarm gain, worker losses in both durable and nondurable manufacturing industries followed a "nontypical" pattern for March. Lumber dropped to a new March low following a continued down trend. The destruction by fire of one large plant in North Carolina was the chief cause of a nonusual downturn in furniture employment.

On the brighter side, however, new shipyard contracts in Georgia and Virginia furthered a continuing machinery employment advance in transportation equipment plants. Printing employment reached a record high and soft goods employment experienced a "moderate" expansion.

Textiles reached the lowest March employment level since 1949.

RECORD LEVEL

In the nonmanufacturing sector, record levels were reached "in all major industry divisions except mining, which had higher employment than in corresponding periods over the past three years."

Also at record highs were employment levels in finance, insurance, real estate and service industries. The rates of increase in these brackets, however, were "considerably less pronounced than in March 1955."

Easter buying added 5,000 employes to retail trade, offsetting a "small drop" in the wholesale sector. Retail trade employment was 36,100 over the year-age tally. Construction gained 3,600 workers as the weather moderated. Increased tourist activity boosted service industries. Expanded school and defense activity added 2,100 workers to government.

New Route Okayed for Eastern

WASHINGTON, May 10 (AP) — Civil Aeronautics Board examiner John A. Cannon has ruled that Eastern Air Lines should be authorized to operate between Charlotte, N.C., and Detroit by way of Columbus and Toledo, Ohio.

Cannon said the route change would not involve undue discrimination in favor of Charlotte or against Greensboro-High Point, North Cardina.

INITIAL DECISION

The examiner's "initial decision" will be adopted as final by the CAB unless objections are filed within 10 days.

CAB examiner William J. Madden ruled in August, 1954, that Eastern should be authorized to operate beyond Charlotte to Detroit by way of Columbus and Toledo, and that Piedmont Airlines should be granted a route between Charleston, W.Va., and Columbus by way of Parkersburg-Marietta.

Greensboro-High Point objected that the splitting of Eastern's route at Charlotte would discriminate against Greensboro and High Point. They proposed that the airline route be split at Greensboro-High Point, 82 miles north of Charlotte.

COURT RULING

In January, 1955, the CAB adopted examiner Madden's recommendations. The Circuit Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia, acting on the protests of Greensboro-High Point, ordered the CAB to answer the latter's complaint of discrimination.

Examiner Cannon, upholding examiner Madden's point of view, declared Greensboro-High Point had failed to show that the discrimination, if any, caused by the split of Eastern's route at Charlotte was unjustified.

Cannon added that Greensboro-High Point had tried to use not only those cities but also Winston-Salem and the surrounding area as evidence of an economy roughly equivalent to that of Charlotte.

Sugar Futures

NEW YORK, May 10 (AP)—World sugar futures eased as much as 14 points in early dealings today on liquidation and hedging. The market later recovered part of the losses on trade buying and short covering. The selling reflected disappointment over the fact that Cuba failed to secure the business on an inquiry for sugar from Israel, coupled with higher ideas on the 1957 Cuban sugar crop. According to market reports, Israel purchased about 5,000 tons of refined sugar from Brazil and a parcel of raws from Italy.

In the domestic raw market, fairly substantial offerings of spot sugars were reported at 6.40 cents a pound delivered which was last paid by cane refiners.

Demand for refined was fair.

State Industries Told To Develop Live Resources

Georgia has moved gradually from a primarily agrarian economy to an industrial economy, and the state's industry must keep pace by developing human resources, a Labor Department manpower expert says.

Miss Margaret Thomas, director of work force skills for the department, told the Atlanta Junior Chamber of Commerce that "we can no longer pay attention only to our natural resources."

The state must provide an expanded vocational guidance service to assist young people in fitting into the industry or profession where their greatest aptitudes lie, she said.

Silberstein, Morse Agree On Control of Fairbanks

By DAVE BEEDER

CHICAGO, May 10 (AP)—The long and bitter fight for control of Fairbanks, Morse & Co., a 100-year-old heavy-machinery manufacturing firm, ended tonight.

The once-warring factions, one headed by company President Robert H. Morse Jr., and the other by financier Leopold D. Silberstein, announced agreement on a five-year pact ending the battle for control of the 135-million-dollar company.

5 EACH ON BOARD

These are the terms of the agreement: Each side will have five members on the firm's 11-man board of directors.

The two sides jointly selected the 11th member.

Silberstein agreed to sell to the company's present management 300,000 shares of the stock owned by his Penn-Texas Corp.—almost half of the amount he said he had acquired in a series of buying efforts.

This, a Fairbanks, Morse spokesman said, assures "continued control of the company by Robert H. Morse Jr. and the present management."

$50 A SHARE

Silberstein agreed to sell the 300,000 shares at $50 a share. It closed today at $56.

Both men said they would drop any efforts to gain further footholds in the other's firm. Countering Silberstein's bid for control of Fairbanks, Morse, Robert H. Morse Jr., had been buying stock in Silberstein's Penn-Texas Co.

The agreement halted a free-swinging financial battle between Morse, 58, whose family has controlled the firm for three generations, and Silberstein, 53, German-born financier who came to this country in 1948.

INDUSTRIAL COMPLEX

Silberstein, as president of Penn Texas Corp., heads a diversified investment organization which has built an industrial complex of oil, gas and manufacturing firms with 1956 sales of around 125 million dollars.

Silberstein tried to take over the rich firm at a shareholders' meeting a year ago. He fell short, but did win four places on the board, including one for himself.

In another spirited effort at this year's meeting, March 27, he claimed to represent 50.5 per cent of the firm's voting stock—694,500 shares.

However, the outcome of this latest bid has been tied up by a Fairbanks, Morse lawsuit seeking to prevent Silberstein and Penn-Texas from voting any of its stock. The suit contended Silberstein acquired the stock illegally in foreign deals.

Meantime, Robert H. Morse Jr. and the Fairbanks, Morse management had begun buying stock in Silberstein's firm, formed a "stockholders' protective committee," and claimed it had the votes of a million shares. Penn-Texas has 4,656,544 shares outstanding.

At the Penn-Texas meeting May 6, no announcement was made as to how the stock was voted. A recess was called until May 21 to give election judges time to total the ballots.

Negotiations later were begun between the two interests and there were reports a compromise, roughly paralleling that announced today, would be reached.

A joint statement was released after the final conference.

Mrs. FDR Wins Halt in Refugees' Hunger Strike

SALZBURG, Austria, May 10 (AP)—Hungarian refugees tonight ended a four-day hunger strike over delays in getting U.S. visas shortly after Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt visited them.

"I will do my utmost to inform the American people about your situation," Mrs. Roosevelt told a delegation of the Hungarians at Camp Siezenheim.

Mrs. Roosevelt came here from London.

A spokesman for the 2,400 striking refugees said they would resume the hunger strike unless they get promises soon that the United States will again accept refugees on a broad scale.

Marines Rap Wilson's Order For Uniform Overseas Duty

WASHINGTON, May 10 (UP)—Secretary of Defense Wilson disclosed today he has ordered the Army, the Navy, Marines and Air Force to work out standard tours for the more than one million men serving overseas.

He also instructed them to follow a uniform policy on permitting families to go overseas with service men.

MARINES COMPLAIN

Before the final draft of Wilson's new order had been printed, it was disclosed, the Marine Corps already had taken exception to it.

The Marines, who became embroiled with Marine wives who objected to being barred from joining their husbands in Japan, requested that they be permitted to continue their present policy.

Early this year, Marine wives protested the ban of Marine Commandant General Randolph McC. Pate on their joining their husbands in Japan where other service wives were permitted.

The Wilson order, dated May 7, was made public today. Navy Secretary Thomas S. Gates Jr. wrote Wilson on April 24, it was disclosed, requesting an "exception at the outset" to the newly stated policies on families.

He said the Marines should not have in the Far East the "impediment of dependents' presence" and also should not be required to serve more than a 14-month tour.

FAMILIES ABROAD

The new Wilson order said that wherever families of any one service are authorized to accompany servicemen abroad, "dependents of all services will be authorized unless specific approval of the secretary of defense is obtained."

The services were given until June 30, 1958, to standardize lengths of overseas tours.

The directive was aimed at settling an old controversy over the length of tours in Korea which are 16 months for the Army and 12 months for the Navy and Air Force.

In Hawaii, the Navy tour now is 24 months and the Army and Air Force 36 months. Air Force Brig. Gen. Robert W. Hall of the Defense Department personnel policy office told newsmen that in Hawaii "the Navy will have to go to a 36 months' tour or tell us why not."

European tours are of the same length as the Hawaiian hitches.

A Democrat Quits Race for M'Carthy Job

MADISON, Wis., May 10 (UP)—The forthcoming contest for the late Sen. Joseph McCarthy's seat narrowed today with the withdrawal of a Democrat.

State Sen. Gaylor Nelson wrote to Democratic State Chairman Philleo Nash that he will not be a candidate.

His announcement apparently left the Democratic field to Rep. Henry Reuss, William Proxmire, three-time gubernatorial candidate, and state Sen. Henry Maier.

In Washington, Reuss said Wisconsin Democrats should concentrate on campaigning against the Republicans and avoid a primary battle. He said he would enter the race if party leaders want him to.

He suggested that Wisconsin Democrats call a meeting June 15-16 at Milwaukee to discuss possible candidates. But he said there should be no vote taken, nor should the potential candidates be bound by sentiments expressed at the meeting.

Their decision apparently punctured a boom that had been developing for the appointment of McCarthy's widow to serve out his term.

Reds Answer U.S., Shell Chiang Isles

TAIPEI, Formosa, May 10 (AP)—Communist Chinese artillery units threw one of their heaviest attacks in three Nationalist Chinese-held islands in the Formosa Straits today.

Nationalist guns returned the fire with heavy barrages, and forces on the attacked islands were reported on alert for a possible invasion.

A Nationalist communique said there were no Nationalist casualties.

The Communist attack was launched on the islands of Tatang, Ertang and Little Quemoy, all near the larger island of Quemoy in Amoy Bay off the Chinese mainland coast.

U.S. To Seek Indictments Of 4 Caught in Dope Raid

The federal government indicated Friday it would push for indictments against four men arrested in a "street-sweeping" drive to rid Atlanta of dope peddlers.

John W. Stokes, assistant U.S. district attorney, said he would request indictments against the four men on charges of violating federal narcotics laws when the U.S. grand jury meets here Wednesday.

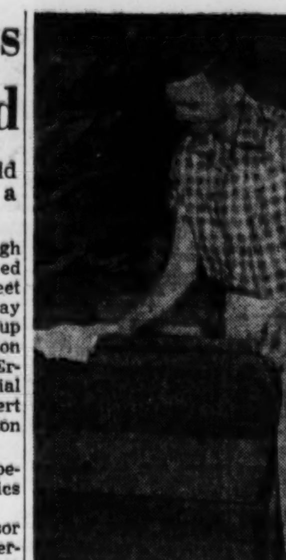

The charge, on conviction, carries a penalty of up to 20 years in prison.

Fourteen men were arrested in the roundup. Eight of them have been indicted by a Fulton County grand jury on charges of violating state narcotics laws.

Stokes said he will ask the grand jury to indict Willie Hugh Bailey, identified as a licensed pharmacist at a Peachtree street drug store whose arrest Thursday brought the month-long roundup to a close; Harold James Masdon of a Boulevard, SE, address; Erwin M. Enzor of a Memorial drive, SE, address, and Albert Ast Tucker of a Washington street, SW, address.

Bureau of Narcotics Supervisor George Gaffney said "undercover" purchases of narcotics had been made by agents from each of the men.

Macon School Wins Active Voters' Award

Miller Senior High for Girls at Macon Friday night was named winner of the Georgia Active Voters' third annual $100 award for a high school government project.

The award was made at a banquet of the voters' organization at the YWCA here. Mrs. Dorothy Floyd, award committee chairman, presented the check to Miss Florence Blair, teacher of government at Miller High.

Mrs. Floyd said the award was based on the "school project that best promotes the study and understanding of government and governmental procedures."

Speakers at the banquet were Sylvan Meyer, editor of the Gainesville Daily Times, and State Rep. James Mackay of DeKalb County.

Wreck Kills Minister and 2 in His Car

The latest victim was Frankie Ellen Knight, 11, of Bostwick. Troopers said they were told the girl was riding her bicycle along the shoulder of Highway 83 near the Bostwick city limits when she fell for an unknown reason.

A head-on auto-truck collision near Reidsville shortly before midnight Thursday killed a Church of God minister and two passengers in his car who were members of his congregation, the patrol said.

They were the Rev. G. B. Moxley, 49, of Swainsboro; Sidney Carter, 33, and his wife, Mrs. Sallie Mae Carter, of Vidalia.

Troopers said the Rev. Mr. Moxley was driving the Carters to a hospital where Mrs. Carter was to be admitted. They added the crash occurred on the crest of a hill two miles west of Reidsville on U.S. Highway 280.

Indict Youth In Theft of ChurchOrgan

An indictment returned by the Fulton County Grand Jury specifically charged Thomas M. Beveridge of 1662 Orlando St., SW, with larceny from the house in the theft of the organ Feb. 21 from West Manor Baptist Church, 815 Lynhurst Dr., SW.

Officers said Beveridge also admitted thefts of other organs, but they said he told them, "my actions began to worry me." They said he told them he had begun returning the organs when officers arrested him.

Beveridge drove his car up to the front of the church, entered by the back door, rolled the organ out to his car on a four-wheel dolly and tilted it into the trunk, police said. He sold the organ in Ball Ground for $110, officers added.

In another indictment, the jury charged a 24-year-old Negro woman, Mary Ann Harden of 15 Hilliard St., NE, with murder for the May 4 stabbing of another Negro woman, Mattie Lou Russell, 36. Officers said the woman was stabbed in the chest with a switch-blade knife in an argument about a man.

500 Teens To Show Wares At Industry Fair Next Week

Over 500 teen-age craftsmen from 75 Georgia public schools will display their projects in the Georgia Industrial Arts Fair Monday through Saturday.

One of these is James Vaughn, 17, a senior at Chamblee High School, who lives at 406 Oakcliff Rd., Doraville. Two years ago Vaughn cut down a walnut tree from the right-of-way of the northeast leg of the Expressway, had the tree sawed into boards, then stacked the wood in his chicken house to air-dry for two years.

Starting in January, under the guidance of his instructor, Harold L. Smith, Vaughn spent 57 hours of classwork on building a finely finished walnut blanket chest from his own plans.

His entry will be among projects offered in six categories—metal, wood, electrical, drawing, graphic arts and open—by competitors on the junior high or high school level.

The fair, which will be held at Rich's auditorium, will be open to the public after the judging of entries Monday. Cash prizes totaling $500 and certificates of merit will be awarded to the first three places and honorable mentions in the various categories.

The fair is sponsored by the Georgia Industrial Arts Teachers' Assn. and Associated Industries of Georgia, in cooperation with Ford Motor Co.

On display at the fair will be entries from congressional district fairs held recently at Statesboro, Albany, LaGrange, Macon, Rome, Douglas and Toccoa.

Selected projects from the Georgia fair will be entered in the National Industrial Fair at Dearborn, Mich., in July.

2 More Stars Signed Up For Chastain

Two additional stars have been signed to star in this summer's productions of the Theater Under-the-Stars at Chastain amphitheater, Director Eric Mattson announced.

Gretchen Wyler, who is now playing the role of Lola in the Broadway company of "Damn Yankees," will leave the Broadway show to play the same role in the Theater Under-the-Stars production.

Shiri Conway, popular television comedienne on the Sid Caesar show, will play the starring role in the opening show, "Plain and Fancy," July 9-14. Miss Conway, widely known as the tall blonde actress who has appeared weekly with Sid Caesar, will recreate her original role of Ruth which she played in the Broadway show.

Miss Wyler, who will play in "Damn Yankees" here Aug. 6-11, starred in the New York production of "Silk Stockings" two years ago.

Court Permits Susan To Take Sons to Georgia

HOLLYWOOD, May 10 (UP)—Film star Susan Hayward received court permission today to take her 12-year-old twin sons to Georgia where she now is making her home with her new husband.

Superior Judge Vol P. Lucas granted the permission on a revised custody agreement under which Miss Hayward's former husband, actor Jess Barker, may have his sons for half of their summer vacation and visitation rights in Georgia.

The actress was married several months ago to F. Eaton Chalkey, Carrollton, Ga., auto dealer. She said she intended making her home in the Georgia town except when working in a movie.

The twins, Gregory and Timothy were the subjects of a bitter domestic relations battle at one time between Miss Hayward and Barker in which he accused her of being an unfit mother.

Youth Given 5 Days for Grady Brawl

One youth charged with participating in a free-for-all near Henry Grady High School Thursday night was sentenced Friday to serve five days at the city prison farm. Police intensified a search for others.

Sgt. W. D. Anderson and detective R. E. Nickerson said, Judge James Webb imposed the prison farm sentence on Billy Duncan, 18, of 760 Primrose St., SE, and ordered Duncan to serve 60 days on probation.

Anderson and Nickerson said Duncan was one of two youths they caught Thursday night attacking high school boys in ROTC uniforms near the Grady school. They said the second youth arrested was 16 and was turned over to the juvenile authorities.

Several boys were reported injured, officers said, but the victims could not be found.

IF YOU have a $20,000 taste and a $12,000 pocketbook, here's the street and the house for you. Two custom designed homes with real architectural appeal ready for sale. Two more nearing completion. One is a Southern Colonial reproduction, another a bit of Old New England, still another is a cute "Gingerbread" style lifted from the pages of a fairy tale. And, of course, there's a comfortable, conventional home for those with a middle-of-the-road taste. . . Comb. liv.-din. rm., 2 bedrm's. and den, light, airy, attractive floor-length windows across the front. Ceramic tile bath, plentiful knotty pine cabinets in colorful kit., 4 telephone-outlets. Skillfully landscapped with numerous high quality shrubs by one of Atlanta's leading architects.
BOTH THE street and the homes offer a real buy for discriminating home-seekers who want exceptional design and quality at moderate price. Spacious yards line a quiet valley with no through traffic and are surrounded by cool, dense, woodlands. School soon to be built nearby.
THESE HOMES feature ornamental and functional designs throughout that has been almost lost in the mass-production age of "Cracker Box" houses. Buy for a permanent home or for an intermediate home and sell at a profit when you are able to move up to a larger house.
GOING OUT Scott Blvd., turn Rt. on Hollywood Rd. and Rt. on Valley Brook, then left on Vista Brook subdivision. A. T. Derrick on premises 8 to 7:30 daily, 1 to 8 Sun., or call PO. 7-9447.
